• In the past few years the storage of natural gas underground has been developed into present and fast increasing usefulness. . Fifty or more natural gas storage areas are to be found in the United States and Canada. These areas vary in size from a few acres to several thousand and may contain from one billion to many billion cubic feet of gas. Underground storage capacity in the United States runs well over 135,000,000,000 cubic feet.
