Gallant Doctor and Blood Plasma Save Life on Peleliu Island

"You don't have to sell me on blood plasma or the medicos who administer it," is what T/Sgt. Ward Walker of the U. S. Marine Corps told Chicago Red Cross workers. And the leatherneck knows what he is talking about. He remembers how blood saved hundreds of lives on Peleliu island. He remembers one doctor in particular — Dr. E. L. Crain of Houston, Tex.
"There's a lot of fellows alive today who'd be dead if it hadn't been for Doc Crain and blood plasma," Walker said. "He had a tough job — a lot of boys died as he landed on the beachhead and established our lines. The fire was so heavy that we couldn't go out and get our wounded and they couldn't get back to us. Doc Crain stood it as long as he could, and as soon as dusk fell, he and a medical corpsman crawled on their stomachs — with as much blood plasma as they could carry strapped on their bodies — to the wounded."
"All night the fight raged. Doc Crain and his assistant found the veins of the fallen soldiers by the light of shells, which burst around them."
"Sure, blood plasma brings men back alive. Twenty per cent of those marines wearing Doc Crain's tags lived to tell about it."

SCUTTLEBUT FROM THE PACIFIC

OKINAWA ECHOES... "OLD MILL STREAM"

It was night on Okinawa. Tired marines huddled in small groups along the outer perimeter of our defense line. Presently one began to sing: "Down by the Old Mill Stream." Gradually all along the line other voices joined in till it reached a low chorus all along the perimeter, seeming to come from everywhere out of the night. Then the men swung into other familiar songs.

They were veterans of four campaigns and had been fighting bitterly all day long, yet, with possible death around them they lay back against the wet rocks and sang quietly in the dark. "The most impressive thing I've ever heard," declared an evacuated M. C. combat photographer.

THE DENTIST WAS CAGEY

A marine vet of Guadalcanal, Saipan, Sarawa and Tinian, blown once off an LST, and wounded in Tinian, jumped out of the dentist's chair before touched. "Send me to the front lines," he cried, "but leave my teeth alone!"

The dentist was cagey. He secured a drawing of a beautiful girl and hung it above the chair. Now his patients open their mouths without being told, and are seemingly oblivious to pain. The dentist is even pestered by would-be patients who have perfect teeth.

'TIS SAID...

"Middle age is that period in life when you'll do anything to feel better, except give up what's hurting you."

CAN FRESHNESS...

● To do a first rate job of home canning can freshness. Capture and hold all possible flavor, color, and vitamin values of the fresh vegetables or fruit. Home canning, specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who stress this point, offer the following tips to home canners who want to keep their canned foods from being on the dull, droopy, tasteless, and vitaminless side.

● Put up only firm, ripe fruit... young tender vegetables. No canning magic exists which can bring back old tough beets or snap beans to youth again. Neither will canning improve hard green fruit, nor bruised and over ripe fruit or tomatoes. In fact, a little damaged food can cause spoilage of a whole canning batch.

HOT WATER...

● Better hot water service at less cost is the promise of the future. Research at the testing laboratories of the American Gas Association in the field of domestic water heating will be of great value to the home-owner in the post-war period of renewed appliance production.

A WARTIME CALL FOR PATRIOTIC WOMEN!

Help us speed the thousands of telephone calls being put through by our boys at Ft. Sheridan. Do this as a telephone operator.

Thousands of servicemen are returning daily from overseas and their first thoughts are to telephone home. That's why the number of Long Distance telephone calls have swamped the switchboards in the local exchanges as they are sped on their way with the returning soldier's "Hello, Mom."

We're doing everything possible to get those calls through. But we need help. By going to work as a telephone operator you'll be helping a serviceman and doing a patriotic job.

No experience is necessary. You can work either full or part time. Surroundings are pleasant and you'll be paid while learning. Start helping the boys today.
