Musical Program, Talk Offered By Lincoln PTA

On Wednesday evening, Dec. 5, at 8 o'clock, a P.T.A. meeting planned by the fathers of Lincoln school children, will open with reports from the chairman of the skating committee, the playground committee, and the safety committee. There will be a special musical program under the direction of Sewell Harter, followed by movies and a talk by Martin Victor Jr.

Mr. Victor for the past nine years has spent three or four months each winter in the Canadian north woods traveling by dog sled from trapper to remote trapper, selecting furs. Each year he has taken two thousand feet of colored film along — this and his camera equipment making a pack of 54 pounds which he carries on his back. The dog sled must hold supplies for the trip and gifts for the Indians. The Indians become very friendly and cooperative when they receive presents, particularly canned evaporated milk, which delights them, and Mr. Victor has learned many of their strange customs by these tactics which he will relate as the movies are being shown. His pictures also show how the fur-bearing animals are trapped, how the skins are processed, and how fur coats are made. This photographic work is his hobby, but it is hard and disappointing to him at times. Many feet of film have to be put out because the subject did not come up to his expectations. Out of the 18,000 feet he has taken in nine years, he has 1,600 feet of film to show.

At the conclusion of the program, refreshments will be served. Bryan K. Perreault and Gordon R. Parks are co-chairmen of the men's committee responsible for this interesting evening.

WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH ATOMIC ENERGY?

Has it ever occurred to you that: Only 123 planes carrying one atomic bomb each could have achieved the entire amount of destruction carried out by our air forces during the war?

The human race has a new source of power which may some day drive our trains, our ships, our factories, heat our homes and propel our planes, or

The human race will soon have the power to commit suicide?

The responsibility as to which path is chosen rests at present with the United States — not the government in Washington, but with every person in every town and countryside in the United States?

This is what has been done so far:

1. The president has made two proposals, one for the nation and one for the world.

(a) National — that Congress formulate a domestic policy for the control, use and development of atomic energy within the United States.

(b) International — that the president initiate conversations with Great Britain, Canada, and later with other nations, to try to reach an agreement to use cooperation rather than rivalry among nations in the field of atomic power.

2. Congress has proposed a number of bills, none of which is satisfactory as yet. All need careful study and thorough public hearings.

(a) The Senate is conducting hearings on the proposed National Research Foundation — laying valuable groundwork on which to operate.

3. Scientists who have worked on the atomic bomb and nuclear research have organized into groups to try to influence the policy of the United States. This is a summary of their convictions:

(a) They are emphatic and unanimous about the necessity for international control of atomic research, because:

1. It is a practical certainty that our efforts can and will be duplicated in other countries within a few years.

2. The only way in which atomic bombs can bring security is by using them first.

3. There is no defense against the atomic bomb and they do not foresee the development of any defense.

(b) They do not approve of the May-Johnson bill in any way.

(c) They do not approve of any restrictions concerning the exchange of scientific ideas between all countries.

(d) They climax their opinion with these sentences, "Mankind has reached the point where it can no longer afford war. The world is too small, the power too great."

Conclusions

1. We must establish a clear policy of domestic control and world cooperation.

2. Peacetime uses of this power in this country should be vested in a group who are responsible to the president.

3. The United Nations cannot operate without consideration of this basic discovery because it was formed "to prevent aggression and to eliminate the causes of war."

4. All available information and informed opinion should be laid before Congress and the people.

5. There is urgency — to save the world from an international armaments race.

One Last Thought

We must make up our minds clearly and intelligently, taking all known factors into consideration. As one congressman put it, by making a wise decision now "we just might save humanity and civilization."

Tin Cans Needed For Manufacture Of Kitchen Ware

"The majority of new tin kitchen utensils appearing now in the stores are made from reclaimed tin. It takes more than 300 average sized cans to reclaim one pound of tin. Continue to save and prepare your cans for the garbage man's collection," urges Mrs. Nathan Corwith - Jr., Highland Park Salvage committee.

Save Wastepaper for Wastepaper Collection Monday, Dec. 3

Wastepaper, reprocessed and used for manufacture of food and medicine containers for overseas shipments and for production of many essential paper products, is still critically needed. Many paper products are scarce. Recycled, salvaged paper will help to meet this need. Continue to save magazines and wastepaper. The next curb collection starts Monday, Dec. 3.

Collection Routes

Monday, Dec. 3 — Central and north to city limits east of tracks.

Tuesday, Dec. 4 — Central to Beech, east of tracks.

Wednesday, Dec. 5 — Beech to County Line Rd., east of tracks.

Thursday, Dec. 6 — Central and Berkeley to County Line Rd., west of tracks.

Friday, Dec. 7 — Central and Berkeley north to city limits west of tracks.

How to Prepare Paper for Pick-up

Put paper on curb the night before the pick-up. Newspapers and magazines must be tied in bundles. Wastebasket paper (empty match books, and all scraps included) packed down in box or bag. Cartons and boxes flattened and tied, unless filled with paper scraps.

Chicago Veteran, 18, Faces Iron Situation Knows How He'll Vote

Chicago, Nov. 21 — I am a discharged soldier. The army says I can't wear my uniform after I arrive home because I would be impersonating a soldier.

The stores say I can't buy a suit because they haven't any in my size.

The police say I can't go out on the streets naked because it's against the law.

I would gladly stay off the streets, but I can't find a house to live and with a shortage of lumber, I can't buy a barrel.

Having been wounded, the army won't take me back because I am not physically fit.

I shall be 21 in 1948. Can you tell me who will be running on the Republican ticket?

JOE LOTZE.

Critical Need for Fats, Waste Paper and Tin Cans Continues

"Removal of fats from rationing does not indicate improved supplies," states the American Fat Salvage committee. The committee has appealed to wives to continue their salvage of kitchen fats and prevent a serious shortage. Meat dealers will go on paying four cents a pound for used fats. The committee urges housewives to turn in all waste fats and oils to meat departments. Supplies of soaps, cotton fabrics, electrical appliances and other essential civilian goods are directly dependent on the industrial fat supply.

39th Annual Drive For Christmas Seal Sale Now Under Way

"Tuberculosis has been called the unnecessary disease. For more than a century mankind has known its cause, its method of spread and the right way to prevent its occurrence; yet 55,000 Americans and several million people throughout the world, died from it in 1944. Each death is a record of failure — the failure of prevention." These facts on tuberculosis are highlighted in a little booklet, "Plain Talk," distributed by the Lake County Tuberculosis association on the eve of its 1945 Christmas seal campaign.

There is valuable information in the 38,288 Christmas seal letters mailed to residents of Lake county on Nov. 19, and the association earnestly petitions a careful study of the contents. The current campaign, which started Nov. 20, has a goal of $40,000. Part of this money will be used for completing payment on the mobile X-ray unit which is to be dedicated here this week. Possession of this unit places Lake county in an almost unique position as one of the first communities in the country to be equipped with this newest device for the advance of public health.

"X-ray examination should be available to all in the community who need it," stated Miss Orpha L. White, RN, executive secretary of the Lake County Tuberculosis association, in speaking of the advantages of the new unit. "The community should also be educated to the use of the existing facilities for diagnosis and treatment; and the patient, himself, his family, his employer, and other community members, must learn to insist upon proper preventive steps and treatment for this preventable and curable disease.

The government's X-ray program succeeded in keeping tuberculosis out of the armed forces to a remarkable degree, according to (Continued on page 6)
