"The War We Did Not Win" Will Be Rabbi Shulman's Topic

This Friday evening at North Shore Congregation Israel in Glenview, Rabbi Charles E. Shulman will speak on "The War We Did Not Win." The uncertainty and the confusion that attend the aftermaths of wars are not missing in this age as we are absorbing our veterans back into our population. There are certain implications in all struggles for existence and survival, certain lessons that must be learned from the costs we pay in life and treasure for the hopes of peace and concord. The sermon of the week indicates the war we have won against the ideas that better fit the Nazi and the Japanese way of life than they do the democratic pattern of our being.

Visitors are cordially invited to attend regular weekly services which are held every Friday night at 8:15, at the Temple, located at Lincoln and Vernon avenues, in Glencoe.

VASSAR CLUBS—

many trick titles because the committee hopes it may be used annually. They believe Chicago's social calendar could accommodate a spring fashion show each year opposite St. Luke's in the fall, and they hope to make this year's party so exciting that it will be repeated by request.

Fifty of Vassar's youngest and prettiest graduates are on the committee disposing of shares in an Adrian suit to be selected by the wearer and a pair of gold and ruby earrings from Spaulding & Co.—large domelike ear clips studded with star set rubies. Shares have gone so fast along the North Shore that the committee declares anyone not possessing at least one share is going to feel very unfashionable. And the report comes back from Vassar, where the girls from Chicago and the suburbs are eager to have a share in the Spring fashion show, that the shares are going like wildfire all over the campus.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

"America is in the midst of Civil War II," is the startling opening sentence of "Marching Blacks," by Adam Clayton Powell Jr. Powell, who is the descendant of Virginia field Negroes, presents his side of a problem that is a disturbing issue now that millions of Negroes have helped to end a war fought primarily against intolerance.

According to a poll conducted by Edward L. Bernays and reported by Stewart G. Cole, director for the West Coast Committee on Intercultural Education, the American people consider the intergroup tension as the greatest domestic problem at this time. This problem centers especially about the Negroes, who for years have been subjected to the prejudices of the white people.

Many cities are meeting the issues by developing well planned programs. Flanner House, Negro community center in Indianapolis, has been making great headway in teaching the Negroes and whites to live and work together. The answer lies largely in wise leadership among both groups, but it is also necessary that everyone has a knowledge of the problems and a greater understanding.

The following biographies of great leaders and stories about the people and their ways of life give an insight into the Negro character.

"Great American Negroes," by Ben Richardson, tells the inspiring life stories of twenty Negroes who have been successful.

"Lay My Burden Down," by Ben Botkin, is a folk history of slavery taken from interviews with several thousand former slaves.

"Black Boy," in which Richard Wright tells the story of his childhood and youth.

"Up From Slavery," an autobiography by Booker T. Washington and his "Story of the Negro" give a true account of the struggle of the Negroes against race inequality.

"Booker T. Washington," by Emmett J. Scott and Lyman Beecher Stowe was written in 1917 some years before the death of Washington and is a readable and interesting book today.

"George Washington Carver," by Rackham Holt, is the story of a great man who struggled incessantly against the intolerance and prejudices that he found on every side.

"George Washington Carver," by Edna Yost, is the story of a modern American and his work in science and invention.

There are other books that deal chiefly with the problems confronting the Negroes.

"What the Negro Wants," edited by R. W. Bogan, compiles statements from leading Negroes of America.

"Brothers Under the Skin," by Carey McWilliams, is a description of a general problem with a program outlined in the concluding chapter.

"Let My People Go," by Henrietta Buckmaster, is the story of the underground railroad and the growth of the abolition movement.

"New World A-Coming," by Roi

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 3, was:

"CHRIST JESUS"

The Golden Text was:

"Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will raise unto David a righteous Branch, and a King shall reign and prosper, and shall execute judgment and justice in the earth. . . . And this is his name whereby he shall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHT-EOUSNESS."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible:

"And there shall come forth a rod out of the stem of Jesse, and a Branch shall grow out of his roots: And the spirit of the Lord shall rest upon him, the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the Lord. . . . as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name." (Isa. 11: 1, 2; John 1: 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"The advent of Jesus of Nazareth marked the first century of the Christian era, but the Christ is without beginning of years or end of days. Throughout all generations both before and after the Christian era, the Christ, as the spiritual idea,—the reflection of God,—has come with some measure of power and grace to all prepared to receive Christ, Truth, Abraham, Jacob, Moses, and the prophets caught glorious glimpses of the Messiah, or Christ, which baptized these seers in the divine nature, the essence of Love. The divine image, idea, or Christ was, is, and ever will be inseparable from the divine Principle, God." (p. 333).

Ottly, is the story of Harlem. "Black Metropolis," by St. Clair Drake and Horace H. Cayton is a study of life in a northern city.

These and other books tell the story of the Negro and his problem and can be found at the Highland Park public library. With so much information at hand no one need be uninformed on this important issue.

the other were cut off by fire. A back stairway, a porch or garage roof, a ladder-like trellis for a vine outside a window, are all possible means of escape.

Garage

"Incidentally," concluded Chief Hennig, "an attached garage must always be given special consideration. The walls and ceilings should be plastered and filled with noncombustible materials; the door communicating with the house fireproofed and self-closing; and the floor made of cement and graded so that explosive gasoline vapors will not collect."

Why Sailors Are Called "Tars"

Back in the days of sailing ships, when hats first were introduced into the British navy, they were made of sail cloth, heavily tarred to add stiffness. These hats were called "tarpaulins," a term which was also applied to the men who wore them. Later this was shortened to "tar," a name by which sailors have been known ever since.

When he was a county judge in Missouri, President Truman was called upon to settle a legal argument as to what was the heaviest penalty for bigamy.

"Two mothers-in-law," replied Judge Truman, with a twinkle.—Tracks.
