

Green Bay School PTA Will Hear Dr. Maria W. Piers

On Thursday, March 21, at 3:15 p.m., members of the Green Bay school PTA will be privileged to hear Dr. Maria Wiegli Piers, Ph.D., who will speak at that time.

Dr. Piers received her Ph. D. degree from the University of Vienna in Anthropology and Physiology and did much post-graduate work in different institutions of Europe along those lines and that of applied mental hygiene.

In 1940 she came to America and did post graduate work in social cases at Northwestern university and in psychoanalysis at the University of Chicago.

She has had practical experience in Europe training nervous children, and with wayward and ailing girls, as well as individual work with psychotic and neurotic adults.

From 1939 to 1941, Dr. Piers did case work for the Illinois Society for Mental Hygiene, as well as nursery work and juvenile research. From 1941 to the present time she has been with the Association for Family Living, besides doing part-time work in a child placement agency.

Dr. Piers is married to Gerhart J. Piers, M.D., of Chicago, a psychiatric consultant, and has one daughter, Margaret Maria Piers.

The meeting is open to the public. Parents, especially, are invited.

Interfaith Group to Discuss "Reveille for Radicals" March 19

The Interfaith group will participate in a discussion of Saul Alinsky's provocative book, "Reveille for Radicals," at its next meeting on Tuesday, March 19, at 10 a.m. The discussion will be preceded by a symposium on the book in which four members will present their views, Mrs. Douglas Boyd, Mrs. Sidney Mandel, Mrs. Karl Roth and Miss Elizabeth Bredin.

The review of Mr. Alinsky's book is part of the organization's study of current efforts to implement programs for improved racial and religious understandings.

The Interfaith group, as part of its educational program, is offering to high school students $30 in prizes for essays, short plays, or poetry on ways of combatting prejudice. These will be submitted on or before March 29 and will be read at the May luncheon. The meetings of the Interfaith group are open to all.

Women Voters to Hear Discussion of Primaries At "Y", March 27

A number of candidates whose names will appear on the primary ballots in April will present their views on pertinent questions at a meeting to be held in the auditorium of the YWCA on Wednesday, March 27, at 8 o'clock.

The event is the regular meeting of the evening group, a department of the League of Women Voters. Its members are business and professional women of Highland Park. Miss Joan Johnson and Miss Elizabeth Bredin are co-chairmen.

All who wish to hear the speakers are invited to attend the meeting on the 27th, which has been planned to give Highland Park residents opportunity to meet and listen to candidates for public office.

Mrs. Van G. Kirk will introduce the program with a short talk on the function and significance of primaries. Because of limited time it will be possible to present candidates for three offices only — Congressman for the Tenth District, County Judge, and County Superintendent of Schools. Further information about this meeting will be given in next week's Press.

Students' Art Awards Won on Originality, Workmanship, Color

The current art exhibit at the Highland Park Woman's club is the work of the students of the Highland Park high school. A jury composed of Mrs. James P. Moore, Mrs. Peter J. F. Weber, Mrs. Sidney Frisch and Mrs. Frederick O. Toof met Thursday, March 7, and awarded blue ribbons to the most meritorious work of each group. The jury reports that in many instances the choice was difficult because of the outstanding originality, fine workmanship and beautiful gradations of color in many of the paintings and designs. For this reason, three honorable mentions were bestowed. The awards are as follows:

Blue ribbon to Sue Patton, landscape in tempera; Portia Allen, landscape in water color; T. Bartell, still life; Pat Lige, illustration for children's books.

Honorable mention to Mimi Berg, illustration for children's books; Barbara Pierce, illustration done to music; M. Buchanan, song interpretation; Joyce Godie, design for draperies.

Honorable mention to 1. Adrienne Rebecchini, design for powder room; 2. Gloria Kugel, design; Marge Dean, small designs; Barbara Schamberg, charcoal landscape.

Blue ribbons to Ruth McNutt, fashion design; Ramona Hansen, crafts.

Honorable mention to Joan Miller, crafts; Portia Allen, poster using figures; Walt Deal, state poster.

The Highland Park Woman's club, and its art committee of which Mrs. James P. Moore is chairman, wish to express their gratitude to Miss Lucille Wood, art teacher at the high school, for her painstaking work in assembling this exhibit.

Corn On The Column

By ALEXANDER McPHERSON

As a ROOKIE SALESMAN FOR THE CHICAGO SUN newspaper about which it has been said "For the truth in the news there is no better printed source," I extend a wholesome "Hiya" in my introductory column of Mr. and Mrs. Olson's very popular weekly fish-wrapper.

CONCERNING CORN

In making my journalistic debut as this tabloid's kernel harvester, I feel confident that my fund of material for conversation will never run out nor be rationed. No matter how seriously the strikes may affect other commodities there will always be plenty of corn. The mind of man seems to be so constructed that corn becomes a part of my humorous nature. In fact corn is as American as the hot dog and baseball, if not more so. Our farmers develop pork, ham and bacon from it. Those Americans who reside in the backwoods regions of West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee, in particular, favor corn for the base ingredient of their favorite beverage.

OTHER USES

Then in the entertaining field our famous radio and theatrical leader Spike Jones would be lost without it. Chiropractors come in contact with many corns during their practice. How balanced would the American menu be sans cornflakes, cornbread, corn fritters, not to mention many other of its by-products? Try to think of a circus without popcorn! Finally let us remember that corn is what made the corn-belt what it is today.

And confidentially, this columnist was not born on a farm down in Iowa. He was shucked.

(Ed. note: Alex has been stationed for 2 years in India, where the weather is very, very hot.)

Lincoln PTA Hosts to Lincoln Pupils at Vaudeville Show

As guests of the Lincoln PTA, all children enrolled at Lincoln school will be admitted to the vaudeville show scheduled at the school Friday evening, March 15, at 7:30.

The master of ceremonies, Geo. Troseth, will perform novelty magic when not introducing the ventriloquist, Charles Ulrich, and the Pauls who "cut-up" in a musical way.

Tickets for adults and children not enrolled in Lincoln school are obtainable at the door.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION HOLY NAME SOCIETY HOLDS MONTHLY MEETING

The Immaculate Conception Holy Name society held its regular monthly meeting Monday evening, March 11, at Elks hall.

Rev. E. J. Skoner, who served as chaplain for the 303 bombardment group in England, was the speaker and told of his experiences while serving in that theater.

After the meeting refreshments were served.

Members "Great Books" Course to Meet At "Y" March 20th

The second section of Highland Park's "Great Books" course will get under way Wednesday, March 20, at 8 p.m., when 35 men and women will meet at the YWCA to discuss the Declaration of Independence.

24 persons are on the waiting list, Mrs. George W. Carr said this week. She will be glad to take the names of others who are interested if they will call her at 1022.

"To be effective, the groups must be held down to discussion size," she explained. "So no more can be added to the active sections at present. We hope to get qualified leaders to start other sections next fall, however."

The course is one of many in the Chicago area springing from the University of Chicago program of study of the great books started by Chancellor Robert M. Hutchins and Prof. Mortimer Adler. There is no charge because the leadership has been volunteered.

Mrs. Marc Law is leader and Mrs. Hiram L. Kennicott is assistant in the two sections starting in Highland Park. The first section met March 6. Each group will meet once a month through June and will reconvene in the fall. A three-year course of study has been outlined. The next assignment will be two of the Dialogues of Plato.

LOOK WHO'S HERE!

Five little girls arrived at the Highland Park hospital this past week.

On Thursday, March 7, a little girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Marino of 209 Sheridan avenue, Highwood. These are the people who will benefit from Illinois Bell's $160,000,000 program of expansion and improvement in telephone service

1. Customers in Cities and Towns

First, service will be provided for everyone who has been waiting for a telephone. Then, all will receive more and better service than ever before — through new cable lines, bigger switchboards, improved modern equipment or new dial systems. Nineteen new telephone buildings will be erected and 25 will be enlarged to provide for additional facilities.

2. Customers in Rural Areas

Telephone lines will be extended to many more rural areas, and rural telephone service will be improved. In many cases, this means that customers will have fewer parties on a line, will hear fewer rings for other parties and will enjoy modern dial service.

3. Customers Needing Automobile Telephone Service

We plan to inaugurate a radiotelephone service whereby cars or trucks can talk by telephone with their offices or with each other.

4. Employees of This Company and Others

Thousands of jobs for telephone people and those who make and install telephone equipment will be created by this three-year program. To carry out this program — the largest of its kind in the company's history — will take men, women and materials as well as money.
