Christian Science Lecture Summary

The following is a summary of a lecture on Christian Science, entitled "Scientific Prayer as Revealed by Christian Science", which was given by Margaret Matters, C.S.B. of New York City, at the Church edifice, 387 Hazel avenue, Friday, March 22.

The lecturer spoke, in part, as follows:

The discovery of Christian Science came about through prayer—not through that prayer which is supplication or entreaty, but through the prayer which the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, describes (No and Yes, p. 39) as making "new and scientific discoveries of God, of His goodness and power. It shows us more clearly than we saw before what we already have and are; and most of all, it shows us what God is." It was through loving, intelligent, logical thinking about God and man that Mrs. Eddy discovered Christian Science, and this scientific thinking was prayer.

Her prayers consisted not only in scientifically understanding the truth about God and man, but in proving or demonstrating this truth. She tells us in the Christian Science textbook (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 16): "The highest prayer is not one of faith merely; it is demonstration. Such prayer heals sickness, and must destroy sin and death." The full burden of proof that her discovery was scientific, and that it healed the sick, rested on her, the Discoverer. In an article entitled, "To the Christian World," she writes of this proving time as follows (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany, pp. 105, 106): "After my discovery of Christian Science, I healed consumption in its last stages, a case which the M.D.'s, by verdict of the stethoscope and the schools, declared incurable because the lungs were mostly consumed. I healed malignant diphtheria and carious bones that could be denied by the finger, saving the limbs when the surgeon's instruments were lying on the table ready for their amputation. I have healed at one visit a cancer that had eaten the flesh of the neck and exposed the jugular vein so that it stood out like a cord. I have physically restored sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, speech to the dumb, and have made the lame walk . . . The list of cases healed by me could be made to include hopeless organic diseases of almost every kind."

A physician who witnessed the healing of Mrs. Eddy of one of his own patients, whom he had pronounced dying of pneumonia, asked her if there was no work published that described her system of healing and on learning that there was no such book he urged her to write one. In speaking of this incident Mrs. Eddy says (ibid., p. 105), "In the ranks of the M.D.'s are noble men and women, and I love them." Thus it was she began her next great task, the writing of the Christian Science textbook, now entitled "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." Only through consecrated prayer was she able to accomplish this truly wonderful work, thus making it possible for students of this Science to heal the sick through Christianly scientific thinking, or through that prayer which attributes to Mind, God, all power. Mrs. Eddy says (ibid., p. 112), "The earnest student of this book, understanding it, demonstrates in some degree the truth of its statements, and knows that it contains a Science which is demonstrable when understood, and which is fully understood when demonstrated."

CORN ON THE COLUMN

By ALEX McPHERSON

WHITT PLUGS COLUMN WITH A COB

In acknowledging the compliment paid this "sprightly-written pillar of type," by the eminent author of "Let's Take a Look," last week, your cornanalyst wishes to express gratitude for same, even while pointing out that the words in this column fall under the heading of "Corn on the Column," — not "Cob." Regardless of its similarity to the well-known vegetable, matter published here is to be read — not eaten. So, when reading this unique contribution to journalism, Whitt, please don't reach for the salt and butter, but just put on your specs.

JUST LIKE OLD TIMES

After spending many months in India, where cricket was the national pastime, it is with renewed enthusiasm that this ex-GI pill-roller awaits the opening pitch of another American baseball season. The 1946 Major League Magnates' theme song might appropriately be called "Just Like Old Times," of 1130 Waukegan road, Northbrook.

The maternal grandparents reside in Michigan, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Cameron of Northbrook are the paternal grandparents.

The paternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Cameron, 112 Elm, Highwood.

The baby, who has been named Dennis Le Roy, is the paternal grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ettore Coppi of 102 S. Central avenue, Highwood. His maternal grandparents reside in Des Moines, Ia. His mother is the former Dena Cerfogli.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Fields of 25 Webster, Highwood, announce the

as the Ted Williamses, Joe Dimagios, Joe Gordons, Dick Wakefields, Johnny Vandemeers, Bob Fellers, Stan Musials and Walker Coopers return from service for more glory on the diamond. Watch the fans wear out those turnstiles!

Due to the number of injuries which plague baseball flycatchers on account of brick walls often getting in their way, it would be smart for all of them to take out a good accident and health insurance contract. (I represent an organization for same.) Even more intelligent would it be to fence in baseball parks with something softer and more shock-absorbing than the brick wall.

Now, if some new Tom Edison would step forward and invent an outfield wall soft enough for players to crash with safety, but resistant enough to give bounce to a baseball! That would be, indeed, a step forward!

birth of a son, on Sunday, March 24, at the Highland Park hospital. He has been named Charles.

Mrs. Fields is the former Sylvia Little. Her mother resides in Jackson, Ky.

Mr. Candy Fields of Pikeville, Ky., is the paternal grandfather.
