Pounding a Portable

It is one of those weeks when there is so much to write about that I haven't been able to concentrate on any one subject. My portable wants to wander from one idea to another. So, here goes.

I planned first to write an open letter to an ex-Russian-GI. I was going to talk to him man-to-man, telling him that I, an ex-American-GI, want peace now and forever.

I wanted to explain that we respect him, his fighting ability, his country.

I wanted to urge him to deeply believe in peace and to think peace and to talk peace among his family and his friends.

But . . . I put aside that idea. I think I'll wait and note the results of the Paris Peace Conference . . .

BLAST AT WASHINGTON . . .

Then I was going to write a piece on the big men in Washington who sit around desks and stir up wars. Already some top military men are planning for World War III, I'm told.

But . . . I gave up that idea, too, for I do not have enough facts to back up a blast at Washington. Not right now, anyway . . .

Next, I thought I'd write a column slanted towards Chicago's news editors.

I was going to say that they are to blame, in part, for the serious condition existing nowadays wherein the people of Chicago know more about the actions and future of a youthful "baby murderer" than they do about their Secretary of State!

SHOULD RAISE READERS' TASTES . . .

This, I think, is tragic. And I was going to ask these editors if they'd ever learn that the nation's standards are low enough now and that by constantly talking down to their readers they will make the nation's character even lower . . .

Next, I thought I might write a column in defense of The Chicago Tribune—that hard-hitting morning newspaper that's loved and hated but never ignored.

IT'S A GOOD NEWSPAPER! . . .

It seems wherever I go, sooner or later I'm involved in a discussion about the good and bad points

Mrs. W. H. Rutherford Vacations in The East

Mr. and Mrs. W. Harold Rutherford, 332 Maple, recently drove to Escanaba, Mich., where Mrs. Rutherford was joined by her brother and wife, Dr. and Mrs. H. I. Silvers, just returning from at-of Chicago newspapers. Most persons I talk to seem to believe that Col. Robert R. McCormick's paper is a poor one. I don't agree.

In my opinion it is a good newspaper.

Why? Well, first of all, I don't think you should judge a newspaper strictly by its editorial policy. It is important, yes. BUT, it is not the ONLY criterion by which to judge.

Granted the Tribune has a relentless editorial policy which is, in essence, it seems to me, that American interests should come first always.

Frankly, I cannot see anything wrong in that attitude for Americans. I think it is correct.

TENACITY OF PURPOSE . . .

Granted, too, that the Tribune's editorial policy frequently lands on the front page, sometimes buried, sometimes leading off news stories. Nevertheless, the Tribune has tenacity of purpose. And I admire the editors for their unyielding stand.

The Tribune, on the positive side, has the best sports section in town; the best society section; the best women's pages; the best features; the best funnies; and the best writers and editors—excluding a few who are on the staffs of the Chicago Sun, Daily News and Times.

EXCELLENT MAKEUP . . .

The Tribune's makeup is excellent.

Its proofreaders are almost impeccable. Its pictures are good and clear. It's bright. It's interesting.

In short, the Tribune is a good newspaper. And I'll defend it anytime, anywhere!

PARTING THOUGHT . . .

During Christ's life, and for 300 years thereafter, there were no wars, a biblical scholar informs me. Think that over!

tending a meeting of the American Proctologic society and American Medical association at San Francisco.

Before returning, Mrs. Rutherford visited her family and friends in New Jersey, Philadelphia and New York City. The return trip was made by way of Canada.

JINKIN-COOPER WEDDING SATURDAY, JULY 27

On Wednesday, July 27, at 2:00 p.m., at the Levere Memorial Temple of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Evanston, Miss Betty Jinkins, daughter of Rosewell Jinkins, 210 Bronson, Highland Park, was joined in marriage to Mr. John Cooper of Bethlehem, Pa., by Rev. Charles H. Heimsath, official SAE chaplain and pastor of the First Baptist church of Evanston.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a trailing white chiffon gown with long full sleeves and a bertha of rose point lace, and long veil. She carried white roses and gardenias. The maid of honor, Miss Margaret Elmore, of Highland Park, and the bridesmaids, Miss Gloria Holland, of Highland Park and Miss Helen Bruns of Davenport, Iowa, wore net, in pastel shades of yellow, aqua and rose, carried mixed bouquets, and wore matching picture hats.

The men of the bridal party, wearing white suits, were Willett Kubec, best man, and cousin of the groom, of Des Moines, Ia.; George Patterson, of Des Moines; Len Meierkord, of Waterloo, Ia.; George Simons, of La Grange, and Robert L. Butcher, of Westfield, N. J. The soloist, a fraternity brother of the groom, from Le Sueur, Minn., rendered, among other songs, that of SAE, in a beautiful and touching manner.

The chancel was decorated with greens and white lilies, gladioli and stephanotis. The bride's mother wore aqua crepe with white accessories and corsage, while the mother of the groom was attired in gray crepe with rose accessories and corsage. A reception, held in the Panhellenic room of the SAE temple, immediately followed the ceremony. The toast to the bride and groom was proposed by Mr. Butcher.

Among out-of-town guests were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Cooper, now of Bethlehem, Pa., formerly of Washington, D.C., and Iowa; his grandmother, Mrs. H. C. Willet, of Des Moines, Ia., an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kubec, also of Des Moines, and an aunt and uncle of the bride, the Donald A. Zinns of Battle Creek, Mich.

The newlyweds, now honeymooning in the north woods, plan to attend the University of Iowa in the fall.

BRIDAL SHOWERS

Miss Anne Dingle was feted on many occasions prior to her marriage on Saturday, July 27, when she became the bride of Benno Frederick Nell III.

A miscellaneous shower was given in her honor at the Claghorn home at 190 Central avenue. Mrs. Richard Blackburn (Alice Claghorn) and Miss Patricia Trude were co-hostesses.

Mrs. Laurence Herman entertained in her honor the Wednesday before the ceremony at a kitchen shower. Mrs. Herman and Miss Dingle are sisters. She was also the honored guest at a linen shower at which Mrs. Daniel Cunningham (Irene Sheridan) and Miss Patricia Fitzgerald were hostesses, and on the Saturday before her wedding Mrs. Joseph W. Brown of Chicago, one of the attendants, gave a bathroom shower for her.

Mrs. Florence Thomas Dingle was hostess at the bridal dinner at Exmoor club the day before her daughter's marriage. White gladioli and daisies were the predominating flowers used in the decorations.
