Albert E. Mitchell Succumbs to Illness

Albert E. Mitchell, 1836 Deerfield road, passed away early Monday morning at the Illinois Research hospital of Chicago, after a long illness. He was 64 years of age.

Born in Bradford, Yorkshire, England, he came to this country at the age of 22, and 10 years later established the Rustic kennels, here, which he had since maintained.

Surviving are his wife, Edith; two daughters, Mrs. George Heron and Mrs. A. C. Harder, both of Highwood; a sister, Mrs. Harry Rawes of Philadelphia, two brothers, Alfred F. of Lake Forest, and Joseph, who resides in England, and 6 grandchildren.

Services were held Wednesday in the chapel at 27 N. Sheridan, with burial in Mooney's cemetery.

Funeral Rites Held For Mrs. Anna Nereim

Funeral services were held on Saturday at the Kelly chapel for Mrs. Anna Nereim, who passed away at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy O. Nereim, 247 Central, on Friday. Rev. Louis W. Sherwin officiated.

Born in La Crosse, Wis., 79 years ago, Mrs. Nereim had lived for many years in Chicago following her marriage to Edward Nereim, a pattern maker. In later years the couple made their home with the Roy Nereims until his death, six years ago, when she lived in Chicago with a daughter, Violet Swanson Nereim, returning to the Roy Nereim home six months ago.

Other survivors are a sister, Mrs. A. F. Munroe of Chicago and six grandchildren.

Maurice L. Hirsch Taken by Death

Funeral services were held at the North Shore Temple Israel in Glencoe, yesterday (Wednesday) for Maurice L. Hirsch, 1540 Judson, who passed away at the Highland Park hospital on Monday, after an illness of several weeks.

Born in Chicago 62 years ago, he had been a resident of Ravinia for the past 25 years. Until his last illness he was actively engaged at his place of business, the Hirsch Shirt Mfg. Co. of Chicago.

Surviving are his widow, Helen M.; a daughter, Mrs. Maurice Berkson; a brother, Walter J. of Emanuel, Ohio, and a sister, Mrs. Fred Bensinger. A son, Robert, had preceded him in death.

Interment was made at Rosehill cemetery.

"Must we say goodnight, Sweet-heart?"
"No, dear," came a voice from the stairs. "Wait a few minutes and say 'good morning.'"

Lincoln PTA Hears Talks on Tuberculosis

Miss Orpha White, executive secretary of the Lake Co. Tuberculosis association, and Dr. Douglas Boyd, president of the Highland Park board of health, were the guest speakers at the opening meeting of the Lincoln school PTA held in the school auditorium, on Oct. 2.

Miss White discussed the detection and early diagnosis of tuberculosis, and a film entitled, "They Do Come Back" was shown, emphasizing the fact that victims of the disease do recover from its early stages. Public education on all matters relating to tuberculosis is important.

Miss White said that two separate agencies work together in this county for handling tuberculosis, the Lake Co. Tuberculosis association and the Lake Co. sanatorium. The association with which Miss White is connected is supported by Christmas seals and other voluntary contributions. Its chief function is to detect cases of tuberculosis.

The sanatorium is a county hospital, supported by a special tax. Once every 10 years the people of the county must vote for or against the special tax levy to support the sanatorium. It was first established 10 years ago. Consequently, the people of the county will vote on the question at the election of Nov. 5.

At the request of the school authorities, Miss White stated that her organization will start this month to give the Mantoux tests for the first time to the school children of district 108. The mobile x-ray unit will be set up in the area and all positive reactors will be given the privilege of having x-rays. The written consent of the parents will be obtained before children are tested.

Dr. Boyd explained the differences between public health and private health medicine, emphasizing the fact that public health is concerned mainly with the prevention or control of communicable diseases within large groups of people.

Among other matters concerning public health, Dr. Boyd stressed the importance of close coordination between school and city health programs and the desirability of detecting communicable diseases by the proper checking of children in grade school rather than high school or later.

Dr. Boyd concluded that public health programs and ordinances should be established on nothing less than a county wide basis; the work to be carried on by a competent staff of doctors, nurses and technicians supported from special tax funds.

Services in Winnetka For John W. Lasier

Services for John W. Lasier, 47, of 1722 Greenwood lane, Highland Park, an insurance agent with the Critchell Miller agency for 24 years, were held yesterday (Wednesday) at the Winnetka Congregational church. Mr. Lasier died Saturday in his home. He was an army officer in both World Wars and was returned to inactive status as colonel in October, 1945. He was a member of the Union League club and a vice president of the Sigma Chi fraternity. Surviving are his widow, Elizabeth, and a daughter, Martha.

Midwestern Writers Open Clinic

Arthur Meeker Jr. and William R. Harshe are two of those to be nominated for directors of the Midwest Writers' conference at its annual meeting, Oct. 25, both lending their interest, ideas and cooperation to the fall and winter writers' clinics sponsored by the conference.

This year's clinics cover 9 branches of writing, each once a month, beginning Oct. 9, and ending with April.

Mr. Harshe will conduct a six months clinic course in public relations, beginning Oct. 10, with "The Seven Publics." Alice Gerstenberg will be the leader of the six monthly clinics in playwriting, starting Oct. 14. Frederic Nelson Litten will conduct "A Course in Criticism," starting Oct. 9, to teach writers how properly to evaluate their own manuscripts. John Frederick Nime, editor of Poetry magazine and professor in the English department of the University of Notre Dame and of Toronto, will conduct an evening clinic in poetry, beginning Oct. 11.

All other clinics sessions are at night. In most, manuscript criticism is included, except in the course on the novel. Different important novelists will each conduct one session on the novel. Arthur Meeker and Mary Hastings Bradley are two participants already announced.

Other subjects are Short Story, Oct. 12 (under Sewell Peaslee Wright and Lawrence Keating); Juvenile Fiction, Oct. 19, under Esca G. Roger, formerly of the American Boy... Non-fiction, Oct. 17, under Ben Kartman of Coronet magazine; Radio, Oct. 15, under Louis Scofield, formerly national president of the Radio Writers' guild.

Any person may enroll in the clinics by addressing the Midwestern Writers' conference, Room 539, 410 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago. 5. Ill. Phone Wabash 6537. All sessions will be held in the Fine Arts building.

a large number of the hospitals in use need replacement or remodeling, and that new hospitals should be established in many areas now lacking such facilities.

Careful studies of community needs was urged, including sources of financial support for maintenance as well as construction and other factors in planning hospital development projects.

The hospital survey conducted during the past year by the Illinois State Department of Health with the cooperation of the Illinois Hospital association and other groups will provide data on which to base the state plan which the commission recommends as the first step in hospital development.

Further expansion of Blue Cross plans was urged as the best means of making hospital care available to more people and as preferable to the compulsory health insurance provisions of the Murray-Wagner-Dingell bill that has been introduced in Congress.

Problems of staffing the hospital were discussed by qualified speakers. It was conceded that hospitals should give proper consideration to the economic rights of employees and that increased hospital operating costs must be borne by the people to whom hospital care is a vital necessity in time of illness. Hospitals must be staffed for 168 hours of every week and shorter working week for employees involve the problem of obtaining additional qualified workers as well as funds for an increased payroll.

The Illinois Hospital association was awarded honorable mention for its statewide public education activities the past year.

The 200 registrants from Illinois included Miss Elizabeth Nicholas, Highland Park hospital; Mrs. E. H. Gatewood of Highland Park, and Mrs. Morris Kurtzon, Highland Park, who is on the board of Mt. Sinai hospital, Chicago.

Social Service Group Meets at Ridge Farm

The social service committee of the Highland Park Woman's club met at Ridge farm last Wednesday, Oct. 2, to sew and mend.

The committee was most active under the leadership of Mrs. Ronald G. Maus, of Highland Park, its chairman, and much was accomplished in creating and renovating for the Ridge farm household, for conservation and elimination of waste was the keynote of the day.

In the late afternoon, tea was served to the committee by three little Mexican girls who are working for their hostess merit badge as Girl Scouts.

SPONSORING BICYCLE CLINIC AT LINCOLN

The Lincoln school PTA is sponsoring a bicycle clinic to be supervised by a group composed of the school's safety committee, its principal, Stanley McKee, and a member of the Highland Park police force.

A survey will be made of all bicycle riders in the school and the serial numbers of all bicycles registered. Each bike will be examined and put through tests to check the brakes, handle bars, saddles and tires.

To reduce accidents, the safety committee favors the adoption of a modern bicycle code and an ordinance requiring the licensing of all bicycles.
