E LAINE WERTHEIMER WEDS

Under a canopy of white chrysanthemums and ferns, Miss Elaine Ruth Wertheimer, daughter of the Joseph Wertheimers of S. Linden avenue, became the bride of Harold Graham at a candlelight ceremony on Thursday, Nov. 7, at 6:30 in the grand ball room of the Standard club in Chicago. Mr. Graham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Goldberg of Greenleaf avenue, Glencoe. Rabbi Charles E. Shulman and Rabbi Ralph Simon performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of pure silk, trimmed with seed pearls and a train three yards long. Her veil, which was full length, was of rose point lace. The bouquet she carried was of orchids and gardenias. Her paternal grandmother's wedding band was used in the double ring service.

Traditional prayers and songs were given by Mr. Ben Landsman of Chicago Civic Opera fame.

The six attendants' dresses were of chartreuse, made alike. The corsages and headresses of the maid of honor, Miss Edith Graham, sister of the bridegroom, a Wellesley student and matron of honor Mrs. James Peltier of Detroit Mich., a former Mills college student differed from the four bridesmaids' however. Their corsages and headresses were of talisman roses combined with bird of paradise. The bridesmaids, Miss Mignon Ginsburg of Detroit, also a former Mills student, Miss Toddy Melvoin of Highland Park, a Wellesley student, who flew here for the wedding with Miss Graham, the bridegroom's sister, Miss Lois Ross of Chicago, a University of Chicago student, and Miss Iris Alexander of Winnetka, who formerly attended Carleton college, carried bouquets of burgundy chrysanthemums centered with chartreuse baby mums.

Seymour Graham served his brother as best man, and the ushers were two other brothers, Arthur Graham and Sidney Graham, two brothers of the bride, Bruce and Irwin S. Wertheimer, and Victor Johnson.

The flower girl, Susan Wechter, niece of the bridegroom, was dressed in a miniature bridal gown with long train. She was accompanied down the aisle by Stephen Graham, nephew of the bridegroom. Another of his nephews, Michael Rappaport, served as ring bearer.

The bride's mother was in grey satin, trimmed with orchid sequins. The mother of the bridegroom was in silver metallic. Both wore orchid sprays. The bride's maternal grandmother, who was here from California, chose a beige crepe and lace gown, and her corsage, too, was of orchids.

The bride was a senior this year at Mills college in California, and the bridegroom is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He served as a captain in the army air corps during the war and had duty in the European theater. A reception followed the ceremony at the Standard club. Relatives from Florida, California, New York, Wisconsin, and South Carolina attended the wedding.

TELEPHONE SERVICE requires a maze of wires and much complex equipment. To install, operate and maintain this equipment takes a lot of highly skilled people—around 40,000 at Illinois Bell.

IT IS FUNDAMENTAL with Illinois Bell to pay good wages. Good wages are paid to attract and hold the kind of employees needed to provide you with the kind of service you want.

SINCE 1940 our payroll has more than doubled, partly because of an increase in force, but largely because of general pay increases. Sixty cents out of every dollar we receive is paid out in wages.
