Rabbi Shulman Will Discuss Teachers' Strikes

This Friday evening at the No. Shore Congregation Israel, Rabbi Charles E. Shulman will discuss "Are Teachers' Strikes Justified?" (A discourse on the teaching situation in Buffalo). The main issue to be considered in this situation is to determine whether or not teachers, as public servants, have the right to strike, or whether they too, are entitled to a decent monetary compensation for their labors. Our sermon this week deals with a problem that is of deep concern to everyone—whether parents or not. It deals with the future citizen—can we afford to injure their educational development? This is only one of the many questions to be raised.
Regular services every Friday night at 8:15. Visitors are cordially invited to attend.

What's Coming

This week more than a million Girl Scouts celebrate the 35th anniversary of their organization. —We compliment this fine group on its fine job of character building.

Reminds us of a story—
"Women are not very strong physically." "Perhaps not, but they can put a lid on a fruit jar so tight that it takes a man twenty minutes to get it off."

Serval's News Bulletin predicts new aluminum milk bottles may be seen soon.

New milk bottles, new Serval Refrigerators with frozen food storage, and New Natural Gas will soon be here.

We hope to start converting to Natural Gas in the Libertyville area in April. Other districts will follow as rapidly as possible.

Trained specialists will handle adjustment of your appliances to the better gas in order to reduce to a minimum any inconvenience to you.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

"What is there to be done in a library?" "What fun it must be to just sit at the desk and read books!" are two remarks librarians hear quite often. Here is the inside story of what has to be done to every book before it reaches the shelves of the library.

The responsibility of selecting books to be purchased is a big one, in view of the fact that so many books pour from the presses each month, and it is obvious that the library cannot buy them all. Requests from patrons are submitted to the head librarian, Miss Egan, who considers them as she compiles the book orders. She reads reviews from the New York Times book section, Saturday Review of Literature, New York Herald-Tribune book review, Virginia Kirkus Book service, and the Booklist of the American Library association; and she selects the books given the best rating by these authoritative sources.

When the books arrive at the library, the bills are checked with the books to be sure all the order is filled. (Incidentally, the staff enjoys the sight of new books as much as you do.) Each book must be "paged" to make certain every page is perfect, that all the pages are there, and that they are cut.

Let us take one book as an example and follow it through its course to the shelf—the very popular "The Child from Five to Ten" by Gesell. After it was paged, this information was typed in the permanent record books: Title, author, publisher, date of publication, source, cost.

The book was then given to the cataloguer, Miss Flinn, who classified it according to subject, child training. She typed a book pocket and card and cards for the catalog and filed them alphabetically according to title, author and subject.

Then the pocket and date slip were pasted in the book, and a "not removable" sticker was pasted on the date slip. This device limits each person to two weeks' reading time and thus circulates the book faster. The title page was perforated with the name of the library, and the classification number was put on the back of the book with an electrical instrument—accompanied by a sigh of accomplishment because this was the last step in the process. In all, five people, each with specialized duties, were required in preparing this book for public use.

HOT CROSS BUNS

AN EASTER SEASON without Hot Cross Buns would be like spring without green growing things. No other Easter bread has as universal popularity as these spicy, fruity buns.

One tradition has it that these buns were served at ancient religious festivals held in the spring in honor of some goddess, usually called the "Queen of Heaven." This charming custom was adapted to the Easter observance by early Christians, who associated the symbol of the cross with what Easter meant to them. Hot Cross Buns at the Easter season are as much a custom as fruit cake at Christmas.

There were many superstitions about Hot Cross Buns in times past, particularly about when they should be baked to insure baking "luck" in the future. Today's cooks know that the "luck" is in the "know-how" and in using the best ingredients. For their airiest, lightest yeast breads they use only fine white enriched flour.

This sweet yeast dough is spiced in true Hot Cross Bun fashion. Spices are an important part of real Hot Cross Buns, for aromatic spices were always a part of religious observance among early peoples. The buns may or may not contain fruits, such as currants or candied fruit peel. When they are baked and frosted with a cross of confectioners' sugar icing, they are an invitation to real eating joy.

HOT CROSS BUNS

- 2 packages yeast, compressed or dry, granular
- 1 cup lukewarm water
- 1 cup milk
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon allspice
- 5 cups sifted enriched flour (about)
- Confectioners' sugar icing

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk. Add shortening, sugar, and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add flour to make a thick batter. Add softened yeast and eggs. Beat well. Add spices and enough flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise until doubled. When light, punch down and let rest 10 minutes. Shape into small buns and place on greased baking sheet or in pan. Let rise until doubled. With knife or scissors, cut a small cross in the top of each bun. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 20 to 25 minutes. While hot, ice with confectioners' sugar icing, following the cross cut in the buns.

Yield: 3 dozen buns.
