The Mayor's job is a job for a business man

BEING the Mayor of Highland Park is no silk hat and striped pants job.

It's a plain, down-to-earth job of managing the city's business affairs. It calls for management and executive ability in coordinating the activities of the city's various departments—police, fire, streets. It calls for experience in the administration of financial affairs, in the wise expenditure of public funds.

Only a business man seasoned by long years of familiarity with business matters such as these could hope to bring to Highland Park's city management the sound judgment necessary for maximum efficiency.

We know that Robert F. Walker is such a man.

We know that he will do the job well, if elected.

After 48 years in the business world, Bob Walker retired as vice president of one of the country's largest advertising agencies. He has carried major responsibility in the planning of advertising and public relations programs for some of the nation's largest and best-known corporations. He has had responsibility for the administration of expenditures for advertising running into millions of dollars.

Walker has been a resident of Highland Park for 25 years. He has the best interests of Highland Park and all its people at heart. He has no private axe to grind, no organized groups to serve.

Walker is a member of the Executive committee of the Highland Park public library, a member of the board of the Highland Park Social Service, during World War II he served in the food department of the Highland Park O.P.A.; was Scout Master of the Ravinia Boy Scout troop and worked with the American Red Cross at the Great Lakes Naval Station.

His son, Robert F. Walker, Jr., is a veteran of the last war having spent four years in the army as a member of the 92nd Signal Corps. Two and a half years were spent in Europe with Patton's third army going through France and Germany.

If you agree with us that Bob Walker will make the kind of Mayor we want in Highland Park—make up your mind now to vote! Too many of us take lightly the right to vote—our most priceless possession. In the last Mayorality election a large percentage of the qualified voters failed to cast ballots. In these times, that's bad. To keep Democracy working, we've got to work at it.
