Dr. Frank S. Cellier, an educator who has taught at several mid-western universities and at Columbia, at present associate director with EBF, will speak on the place of the documentary film in educational fields; and, particularly, of the special need today for the widespread knowledge of the subject-matter of the food film-sequence. "The subject: 'Food For Freedom', dovetailing as it does into last meeting's discussion, by Mrs. Wm. G. Barry, Council on Foreign Relations international affairs expert, of the Marshall Plan and its bearing on democracy, is of the utmost importance to us all," says the committee planning the program.

First Graders Serve Refreshments at Their Snack Bar
Occasional conversation overheard this fall, "I'm not going home today. I'm waiting for my brother. We are eating lunch at Shelton's." Ravinia hasn't always had a lunch room close by. Shelton's grill is rather new in the community.
During a discussion of interesting places close to school, the children showed much interest in Shelton's Grill. The suggestion that we build a lunch room at school was met with much enthusiasm. We decided we couldn't serve lunch, but we might be able to serve refreshments between meals or what is more commonly known as "snacks." Since we didn't have the space necessary for tables, we decided to make it a counter affair and finally the "Snack Bar" was originated.
The days that followed were full of planning. We discussed all the things we knew about lunch rooms. Then, we listed all the things we didn't know and talked about how we could find out about these things. It was suggested that maybe Mr. Shelton would let us visit his lunch room and find out such things as: what waitresses do besides serve food; what cooks do besides cook food; who keeps the lunch room clean; what cleanliness rules are necessary when working with food; what is needed in the way of equipment; how we pay for our lunch; who takes the money; what a menu is; etc.

A visit to Shelton's Grill was arranged in the next few days. Each child had something to find out, either by asking questions or by observing. We were taken on a complete tour of the lunch room. We found the answers to all our questions. We came away, each with a souvenir pencil and one blank guest check, eager to start work on the snack bar.
Weeks followed, with everyone busy. Tables were pushed together to make a counter. Cupboards and refrigerator were made from orange crates. It was decided that wallpaper would help to make the lunch room attractive. Mrs. Pearce, art teacher, worked with the children on designs for wallpaper. The children chose a design with boats, ships, and occasional lighthouses. A box was found, suitable for a cashier's desk. The children thought out ways and means to make necessary equipment and material. A large size menu was made and hung on the wall. It contained a special: Juice and Crackers, 5c. Other foods listed were: Crackers and Peanut butter, 3c; Crackers and Jelly, 3c; Crackers and Cheese, 3c; Pineapple Juice, 3c; Tomato Juice, 3c.
A shopping trip to the store was planned and we bought supplies to last us for a few days.

We are now ready to function. Each child had a turn to bring money to school and eat at the Snack Bar. Each child had a turn at the various jobs: chefs, waitresses, and cashier. We invited the other first grade to come in for refreshments. We hope to have the parents come for a snack, also. The children dictated this story about the lunch room:

OUR SNACK BAR
We built a snack bar.
We made wallpaper.
It has boats and lighthouses on it. It is pretty.
We have two chefs.
We have three waitresses and a cashier.
Real food is served.
We work hard and have fun.
