WHITT N. SCHULTZ TAKES A BRIDE

The marriage of Miss Patricia Reynolds Will to Whitt Northmore Schultz, was solemnized on Saturday, March 13, at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon in the "Country Church of the City", Chicago, the bride's father, the Rev. Benjamin Martyn Will, officiating.

The bride was lovely in a white satin and lace gown, which she both designed and made. The veil she wore hung from a braided bonnet trimmed with lace. Lilies of the Valley were attached to the streamers of the nosegay of white roses which she carried. Her younger brother, Bradford N. Will, gave the bride in marriage. The bride's attendants, Mrs. William E. Roberts of Glenview, the bridegroom's elder sister, matron of honor, and the Misses Judith Northmore Schultz, his younger sister, and Miss Marilyn Robb of Chicago, bridesmaids, were gowned alike in white marquisette with large yellow satin bows. Each carried a miniature nosegay, similar to the bride's.

The ring bearers, three year old identical twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, wore white cotton suits. They carried a large satin pillow for the double ring ceremony.

Richard D. Higgins of Evanston, served the bridegroom as best man, and the ushers were Lt. Cyrus B. Will of Arlington, Virginia, the bride's older brother, Mr. Roberts, Mr. Gilbert Gardner and Mr. George Murray.

Over 1,000 guests attended the wedding and reception which followed immediately after in the church parlors.

Mr. Schultz and his bride are now at home in Braeside. They plan an extended western trip this summer.

"WHERE'S MY BABY?"

This flash fire was one of Northern Illinois' worst. Ten families—39 people—had lived where now there were only flame and death. One of these people was little Rose Brinkman. Her mother was frantic. She asked the neighbors. She asked the policemen. She asked the firemen. "Where's my baby?" "Have you seen the little one—Rose—the baby?" Then she saw the familiar red and white insignia. It was a Red Cross worker. "Have you seen my baby?" She was almost pleading now. "Your baby's right over there, ma'am," came the reply. "One of our workers is tending to her in the Red Cross car." And there, indeed, was little Rose. The Red Cross had dressed her warmly. And she was snuggled in a blanket drinking warm milk. She even smiled a little when her tearful mother reached for her.

Last year the Red Cross brought food, clothes, first aid, and comfort to the victims of fires and disasters throughout Northern Illinois

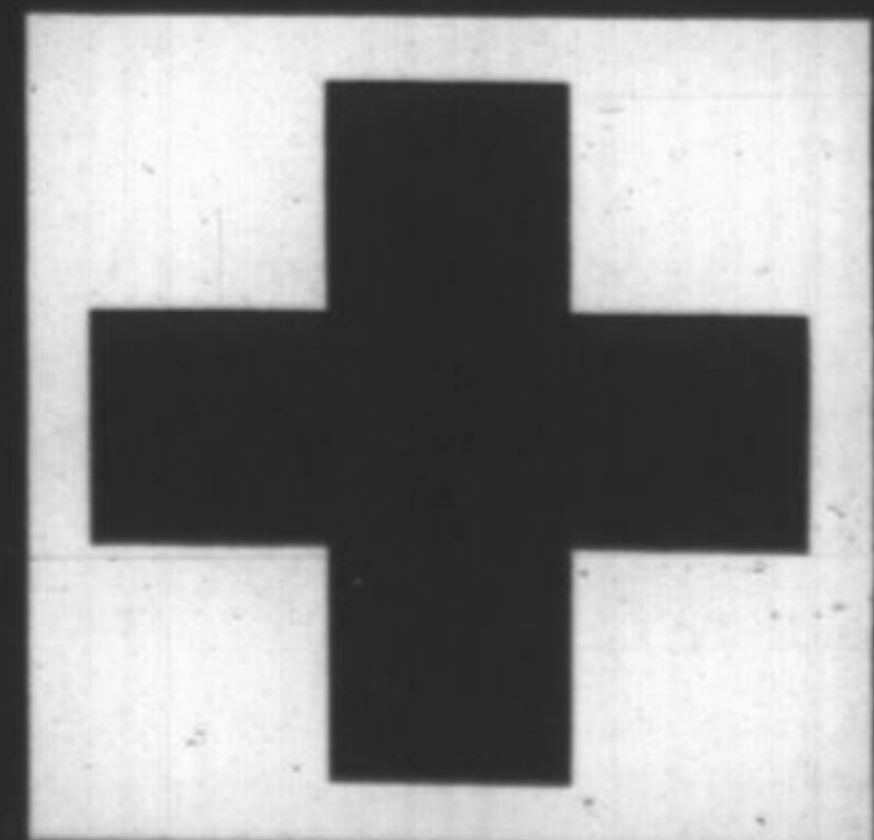

Last year, too, Red Cross chapters in this area helped thousands of veterans with the problems of readjustment, brought cheer to thousands more who are hospitalized in this region. They helped the families of thousands of men still in the service to solve personal problems... They certificated over 5000 women from Red Cross nursing classes... And they taught more than 32,000 people the fundamentals of swimming and water safety.

For obvious reasons, the names and in this typical case history are fictitious.

So that your Red Cross will continue to be Always there when needed most
