To The Public:

The North Shore Line is again ready to serve you. Service on all divisions of the railroad was restored beginning Wednesday, June 30. This was made possible through an order of the Illinois Commerce Commission increasing commutation fares.

We sincerely regret the inconvenience to which you were subjected. The 93-day shutdown of the railroad was occasioned by financial inability to meet wage increases and other demands of employees.

The North Shore Line lost $283,109 last year in providing transportation services. Taking full credit for non-operating income it still showed a deficit of $95,971. These losses occurred primarily because of low commutation fares previously in effect.

While the newly authorized commutation fares may seem to be relatively high they are not out of line with the tremendously increased commodity costs confronting all of us. The higher fares are necessary if the railroad is to continue to operate.

The Commission order provides that the Shore Line Branch shall be operated for a test period to determine whether or not it can be maintained on a sound business basis. It is our desire and hope that it can.

The Shore Line Branch experiment will be made under the direction of the Illinois Commerce Commission. Expenses and revenues will be segregated according to procedures prescribed by their Accounting and Finance Division. During the test period reports based upon the findings of the accountants of the Commission will be given to the public and to municipal authorities so that they can satisfy themselves as to the pertinent facts.

Under this plan it can be clearly determined whether or not the Shore Line Branch can be operated on a self-sustaining basis. It may be that continual losses will occur but nevertheless we are willing to assume this risk in order to reopen the railroad to the public and give an opportunity for our more than 1,400 employes to return to work.

The future of the North Shore Line, and particularly the Shore Line Branch, is dependent upon the extent to which it is used. In this we seek your cooperation.

The railroad has no sources of income to meet heavily increased operating expenses other than fares it receives for the transportation of passengers and revenue derived for the handling of freight. If it is to continue to exist and to render a service to the territory it serves, it needs the support of the citizens and industries located along the line.

We are anxious to provide transportation service that will merit the good-will and cooperation of a satisfied public. The management and employes of the North Shore Line sincerely solicit your support.
