So You Want To Travel?
Or Stay In Highland Park!

EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK:

The more I travel, the more I appreciate Highland Park.

Why anyone wants to leave our town to "explore" new horizons is beyond me.

I've traveled from Honolulu to Maine, and up and down across our nation. I've yet to find a town that compares with ours.

True, a town might have better streets.

But it doesn't have the beautiful homes, perhaps. Or the spirit that's Highland Park—an inescapable blend, in my opinion, of beauty, unselfishness and kindness.

But enough of this reflecting . . . and some travel notes . . . collected at random.

TRAVEL NOTES . . .

Wonder why all auto builders don't make car bumpers the same height? It surely would save grills, front fenders and trunks.

Wonder why there aren't better roads than U.S. 6 and U.S. 30 to New York? In this Atomic Age when man has doped out ways to do everything, including blowing the world to bits, it's odd that our highways are so poor and so wretchedly maintained . . .

BURMA SHAVE ADS . . .

Burma Shave road advertisements still grab the tourists' attention . . .

No matter how small the town, there's always at least one house in it that's beautifully maintained . . .

Trains are a nuisance. Employers should pay their help adequate wages so extra gratuities are not necessary. Do we tip the bus driver? The train conductor? The milkman? Each performs far more duties than a waitress who frequently forgets to bring what's requested . . .

Tourist homes, snubbed by most pseudo-sophisticated travelers, are far better than most of us think. Without question they're superior to some of these monstrosities that call themselves hotels . . .

Why can't there be separate highways for trucks. They're definite hazards to safe driving . . .

CANTON, O. FIRST STOP . . .
If you're planning an eastern trip, by-pass Canton, Ohio. By-pass it, that is, if you're particular about where you sleep.

We stayed at the Onesto Hotel, presumably the best. Not recommended. How we wish for a Moraine-on-the-Lake Hotel at every overnight stop . . .

"Don't Trust to Luck."
"Heed Traffic Signs."

You see these red-white-and-blue signs every few miles on U.S. 30 to N.Y.C.

We recommend credit cards—they're quick and easy to use; they're honored; they get you in places closed to the general public. (Incidentally, like us, you might think a Standard Oil Credit card is good at "Esso" stations which dot the east and are owned, we understand, by the Standard Oil Company. Well, these credit cards aren't honored at Esso stations. Remember that.)

"OBEY OR PAY" . . .

Eye-catching road signs in Pittsburgh caution, "Obey Or Pay." Succinct. To the point. Compelling—particularly effective in confusing Pittsburgh. By the way, we hoped to visit the Douglas Browns, former Highland Parkers, when in Pittsburgh . . . but business appointments interfered. . .

Road side picnic parks abound in Ohio . . .

Pennsylvania's greeting to speeding motorists, whipping by state lies is: "Take Time. Enjoy Our Scenery." Persuasive, right? And it is a beautiful state.

World Council of Churches To Begin August 22 At Amsterdam

Hourly peels of church bells on Sunday, August 22nd, will observe the opening of the first Assembly of the World Council of Churches to be held at Amsterdam, Holland, August 22nd to September 4th, it was announced by Rev. Lester H. Laubenstein, President of the local Ministerial Association, and Pastor of the Bethany Evang. United Brethren Church. Each peal of the bells, Rev. Laubenstein reported, will call Christians to a moment of silent prayer "that the Amsterdam Assembly will mark a rebirth of Christian Faith." Bells will ring from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on the hour. Among the local churches cooperating are the Evangelical and Reformed, Homewood and North Greenway Road; and Redeemer Evang. Lutheran Church, Central Avenue and McGovern. Other churches would be glad to cooperate but they do not have bells.

The tower chimes will announce a unique meeting in Christian history when Protestant and Orthodox churches participating at the Assembly will be represented by delegates from 140 churches in 39 countries throughout the world. Twenty seven American denominations are sending a total delegation of 225 church leaders.

The Assembly has been convened by a Provisional Committee in existence for the past ten years. The Assembly's tasks will include the ratification of the constitution of the World Council of Churches, and united study of the problems confronting the Christian churches at the present time under the general theme: "Man's Disorder and God's Design."

Lutheran Young People To Have Picnic Sunday

Lutheran Young People of the North Shore Zone have arranged for a zone picnic on Sunday, August 22nd, at 2:30 p.m. at Skokie, Central Park, 2 blocks south of Simpson Avenue. The season's baseball play-offs will be scheduled early in the afternoon. A program of games and races is planned for all. Evening devotions in the open, supper and marshmallow toast will close the annual summer picnic. The winner of the baseball play-offs will represent the North Shore Zone in the Lutheran North Illinois District play-offs. The Redeemer Ev. Lutheran baseball team under the captaincy of Gilbert Pantle having won the first bracket of the tournament will play as one of the competing teams on Sunday, August 22nd. The prospect for the local team winning the play-off and representing the zone in the District play-offs appears good at this writing. The Lutheran team is also scheduled to play in the Highland Park Church-tournament against Bethany U.B. church-team on Tuesday, August 17th at Lincoln Field.

A visiting bishop, delivering an address on the evening of his arrival, told several anecdotes that he planned to repeat at a luncheon the next day, so he asked the newspapermen not to publish them. As a result, a cub reporter ended his article with this sentence: "The bishop also told a number of stories that cannot be published."
