KREEL-CANTAGALLO WEDDING

On Saturday, September 11, Miss Mary Christine Krel, daughter of Mrs. Mary Krel of New York, became the bride of America J. Cantagallo, son of the Nicholas Cantagallos of 324 Ashland avenue. The 9:30 a.m. ceremony was read by the Rev. Martinez at the St. James church, Highwood.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Peter Krel, wore a white satin wedding gown made with a long train. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown headdress. She carried white carnations.

Miss Laura Cantagallo, sister of the bridegroom, attended as maid of honor and Miss Theresa Minorini as bridesmaid. Both attendants wore pale blue gowns. Miss Cantagallo's bouquet of red carnations matched the crown of soft red feathers she wore in her hair, while Miss Minorini's carnations and feathered crown were of the same shade of blue as her dress.

Frank Gravandi of Highwood served Mr. Cantagallo as best man.

The bride's mother wore a grey suit at the church ceremony in the morning and a pale blue lace gown at the reception held at 8:00 p.m. at the Masonic Temple. Her corsage was of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother chose navy blue for both occasions and her corsage, too, was of white carnations.

About one hundred and fifty guests attended the reception. Mr. Cantagallo and his bride are now residing in Highwood.

Telephone tips

Calling SPRINGFIELD
—or SOUTH AFRICA?
Just speak naturally

"Hello!" you say, in a quiet, normal voice.

Instantly that friendly word is heard clearly and distinctly in Springfield or Paris, Cape Town or Hong Kong—or almost anywhere else you may wish to send it.

Some people think the farther they're calling the louder they should talk. No need to. In fact, shouting merely distorts your words—and annoys the person you are calling.

Even if your voice travels thousands of miles, there is no need to shout over the telephone. Just talk directly into the mouthpiece... hold it close to your lips (about one-half inch away) and speak distinctly. Any "shouting" that has to be done is done for you by the telephone company. Little vacuum tubes boost the power of your voice currents at regular intervals along the route of a Long Distance call.

Your telephone is engineered to perform this modern miracle of transmission. Static and "echoes" that used to interfere with Long Distance calls have been largely eliminated. Today, your normal speaking voice can be reproduced clearly and faithfully in just about any place on earth.

Making your telephone easy to use is part of our job. Making it serve you efficiently, making it useful and valuable, is the aim of all of us here at Illinois Bell. And our service improvement projects are making it even more valuable. Better telephone service is coming your way.
