Legion Auxiliary Largest Of Its Kind In The World

Highwood Unit No. 501, American Legion Auxiliary will hold its regular monthly meeting, Monday, November 8th at the Legion home, 220 Railway Avenue, Highwood at 8 p.m. All officers and members are urged to attend. Mrs. C. M. Jacobson, president will preside.

To date 38 members have paid their 1949 dues, according to Mrs. Roland Stanley, membership chairman of the unit. "Those who have not paid their dues may do so at the next meeting," stated Mrs. Stanley.

"New members enrolling in the Highwood unit may be surprised to learn that they are joining the largest organization of its kind in the world," Mrs. Stanley recently said, when reporting progress of the current membership campaign.

"No one other organization of women has anywhere near so many dues-paying members as the auxiliary," she said. "Enrollment for 1948 has reached approximately 950,000 and we are expecting to pass the one million mark in 1949."

Units of the auxiliary are active in practically every city and town in the United States and its territories as well as in some foreign countries. In the larger cities there are units in almost every community. The Highwood unit is one of the 12,500 local units now carrying out the auxiliary program.

Every state and the District of Columbia has a Department of the auxiliary. There are also thriving departments in Alaska, Hawaii, the Panama Canal Zone and Puerto Rico. Detached units are located in France, Cuba, Canada, Bermuda, British West Indies, Netherlands West Indies and Guam.

Library Offers Help On Choosing A President

As the nation prepares once again to go to the polls, many voters will be looking for books which supply not only valuable and interesting political information but also a background for intelligent well-informed voting.

The Highland Park Public Library offers biographers of the three major presidential candidates: This Man Truman by Frank McNaughton and Walter Hehmer; Dewey, An American of This Century by Stanley Walker; and The Wallaces of Iowa by Russell Lord.

Other pertinent books available in the library are American Political Parties and The President and Congress both by Wilfred E. Binkley; American Parties and Elections by Edward McChesney Sait; A Twentieth Century Congress by Kefauver and Levin; and American Government and Politics by Charles Beard.

Popular among readers are Irving Stone's They Also Ran, the story of America's defeated presidential candidates, and Lewis Abraham's It's All Politics.

Perhaps the most valuable information will be found in the collection prepared by the League of Women Voters of Highland Park which includes a specimen ballot and a booklet giving background, record, and duties of office for all candidates involved in the November 2nd election. The League of Women Voters has also made available a pamphlet, "The Illinois Voter", giving opinions of congressional candidates on leading questions of the day. These will be found in the special exhibit entitled "Know Your Candidates."
