Glencoe Resident Greeted His Former Schoolmate, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey

Mr. H. H. Pulver of Pulver-Nash, Inc., Glencoe arrived home last week after a thrilling experience in his home town, Owosso, Michigan, on the week-end of October 9, when he had the pleasure of greeting his old friend and school-mate, Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for the presidency of the United States.

Upon his arrival at his native town on his way to New York, after touring Indiana and vicinity, Governor Dewey was met at the station by throngs of people from all over the state, gathered at Owosso to tender an enthusiastic greeting to their native son. He was honored by an immense parade, consisting of a cavalcade of beautiful floats depicting the highlights of the governor's career and cars bearing many dignitaries. The whole town was gayly decorated with flags and several bands filled the air with spirited music.

In the center of the football stadium at the high school athletic field a large platform had been erected, and about this thousands of people had been waiting for hours. Upon his appearance Governor Dewey was welcomed in truly royal style.

Among the notables seated on the platform were Governor Sigler, Ex-governors Brucker and Kelly of Michigan, and Senators Vandenberg and Ferguson, also of Michigan, who gave welcoming speeches of friendly and non-political vein. The celebration was of a home-coming, rather than political, nature.

Governor Dewey spoke for twenty minutes, a warm, hometown address, and the lovely and gracious presence of his wife and his mother added to the thrill of the occasion. Mr. Pulver, who occupied a seat on the platform, greeted the governor, recalling experiences of their boyhood days.

On Sunday the governor, accompanying his mother to church, was again accorded an enthusiastic welcome by the assembled crowds.

Lincoln School Principal Author Of Article On Principals

Stanley W. McKee, principal of the Lincoln School, District 108 was recently selected to serve as Chairman of the Editorial Subcommittee of the National Safety Council, a group which publishes instructional materials in the field of safety for elementary schools.

Mr. McKee is also the editor of an article on the principals, accepted for publication by the Elementary School Journal in one of their current issues.

Mr. McKee, President of the Principals' Roundtable of Northern Illinois, with his assistants, spent over a year gathering materials on the nature and needs of the principals.

A terse summary of the conclusions of the study indicates that:

- (1) Since the principal needs to "feel the pulse" of the community it behooves the board of education to see that he is properly housed in the community.
- (2) Since he needs a working knowledge of how children develop, he should have adequate elementary school experience and at least a Master's degree in education.
- (3) Since he should not serve as an ex-officio clerk, help should be given him.
- (4) The State Department of Public Instruction should set definite standards for the principals.
- (5) The principal's working relationships with the custodian should be clearly defined.
- (6) The principals' organization in the State of Illinois needs to develop planning and

Russells Take Lead In Close Touch Football Race

Russells took undisputed lead in the Touch Football League race sponsored by the Highland Park Recreation Department. Russells won from the Nineteenth Hole team by a score of 18 to 0.

Duffys Tavern team squeezed past the Evans Feed Store team by a score of 8 to 6. A safety for 2 points by Duffy's team was the deciding factor.

In the Kiwanis-Lincoln game there were many spectacular plays and many near misses, but the final score after 40 minutes of play was 0 to 0. The feat of holding the experienced Lincoln team to a zero score by the Kiwanis Club Kid team shows they will have to be reckoned with in future games.

Graham McKinney Collects Mastheads of Newspapers

Collecting mastheads from daily newspapers is the unusual hobby of Graham McKinney, a junior. Asked why he chose this as a hobby, he said, "I am interested in newspaper work as a profession, so I wanted to do something through which I would learn more about newspapers."

The masthead is the top part of the front page and it includes the name of the paper, the date, and the price.

Graham says that he has, at present, over two hundred. They are from forty-two states, Great Britain, and Canada. This is quite a collection considering he started less than two years ago. His latest addition was the Coffeyville Daily Journal, from Coffeyville, Kansas. He has three ways of securing these mastheads. The first one is the way he started his collection. When traveling, he would get newspapers wherever he stopped, and, after reading them, cut out the mastheads. Then, after friends and relatives learned of his hobby, they started helping him. After these methods had helped him build up a large collection, he decided that by writing to newspapers he could procure old copies. It is through this method, he feels, that he can continue his collection in coming years.

As for the future of his collection, Graham hopes that someday he will have mastheads from all of the 1,000 or more daily papers in the United States.
