Can You Help?

And Notes From Here And There

We have a friend who needs a home for his wife and three children.

He hasn't a lot of money, being a veteran, so he can't afford to build a new home or buy one of these high-priced ones all around us.

We've been trying to help him, but we've had no success to date.

So, we thought we'd appeal to you PRESS readers who always help when it's possible for you to do so.

If you know of any quarters in this area suitable for a growing family of five, with the rent no higher than it should be, we wish you'd let us know.

DISPLACED PERSONS . . .

Our friend made a remark the other day about his housing problem that's sadly believable.

He said we Americans are finding plenty of housing for displaced Europeans now entering our country.

He added that he could probably get fine quarters in Chicago if he'd pack up his family, travel to Europe, get lost among the displaced persons abroad and then request shipment to America, and to Chicago, where hundreds of displaced Europeans are finding new and adequate homes.

It's a sad commentary, alright, when we Americans can't take care of our own . . . particularly vets who gave up so many valuable years to protect a nation that seems reluctant to house its ex-GIs.

Well, if you know of a home for our friends, we'd like to hear from you.

We think they deserve our help.

THANKS . . .

Thank goodness that bumpy Northwestern Railroad crossing on Central Avenue has been repaired!

Now may we recommend the same kind of repair work on Ravinia and Braeside crossings? eight year-old-vehicle will drop to pieces . . .

A BIT ON LONG DISTANCE . . .

Have you been having trouble with your long distance telephone calls recently?

We surely have.

Take the other day, for example . . .

We were calling San Francisco. We got our party after many minutes of waiting. Finally, we began talking.

Seconds later we were connected with a housewife in Kansas who was telling about a new pie mix she had discovered!

Then we were completely cut off . . .

When we finally got our party back—fully 10 long minutes later—we were again cut off . . . this time we were listening to one operator telling another operator about her date the night before . . .

CHICAGO HANDLING MANY CALLS . . .

After this rather embarrassing thing happened, we decided to try our California call again.

Free Tickets For Rockets Professional Football Games

The Highland Park Playgroup and Recreation Dept. through the courtesy of the Rockets Professional Football Club, has a limited number of Rockets Rooters Club membership cards. These cards entitle the holders, upon payment of the Federal Tax fee, to see the two remaining home games of the Chicago Rockets. On Sunday, October 31st, the Rockets play the N. York Yankees and on Thanksgiving Day, November 25th, they play the Buffalo Bills.

These tickets may be had for the asking at the Community Center.

Little Giants Whip Evanston Gridders 20-6; Waukegan Next foe

By Will Schlichting
The Highland Park high school "Little Giants" rolled over the Evanston gridders to the tune of 20 to 6 in a Suburban conference game played last Saturday on the Highland Park field.

It was pretty much a victory for a chap named Dirk Young who scored 13 of his team's 20 points. Young had a field day as he made several nice runs other than his touchdown and extra point jaunts.

The whole Highland Park line played good ball as they opened large holes in the Evanston forward wall to let the backs gain almost at will.

Drive 80 Yards To Score
The Blue and White started their first touchdown drive early in the game as they drove from the Evanston 20 yard marker to the Highland Park 15 yard stripe.

This march was featured by a couple of runs by Young and the line plunging of Dan Coleman. With the ball on the Evanston 15 yard marker the Blue and White were victims of a 15 yard penalty which put the ball back on the 30 yard line. After a series of line plunges and end runs the Little Giants had the ball on the Evanston 6 yard line with a first down and goal to go.

On the first play Coleman lost a yard. Young then carried the ball to the 3 yard line and Dan Coleman plunged to the 1 yard marker from which he took the ball over into pay dirt for the first score of the game. Young went over for the extra point to make the score Highland Park 7, Evanston 0.

In the second quarter Highland Park again drove from the Evanston 20 in a series of plays and finally Young scampered around end to score for the Blue and White. A pass over the goal line from Dan Coleman to Tagliapetra was good for the extra point making the score Highland Park 14, Evanston 0.

Score In Last 45 Seconds Of Half
In the last 45 seconds of the first half a pass to Stewart of Evanston was good for a touchdown. They failed to score the extra point. The score at half time read: Highland Park 14, Evanston 6.

In the third quarter Young again broke loose, this time from the Evanston 35 yard stripe to score the final touchdown of the game. The final score: Highland Park 20, Evanston 6.

Play Waukegan Saturday
This Saturday afternoon the Blue and White will tangle with the Waukegan "Bulldogs" who lost last week to Oak Park by a 40 to 6 score. This Waukegan team has played some good ball at times this season and has plenty of speed in the backfield and if they can get their passing attack to function they can well give the Little Giants a run for their money.

How About A Little Support?
If a few of the students of Highland Park high school would get out and support their team, along with a few of the town people, the Little Giants would give out a little more. There was a very small crowd at the Evanston game, even though the weather was perfect.

The Highland Park Frosh-Soph took a 44 to 6 lacing from the Evanston boys and these lads from Evanston will bear plenty of watching in the next couple of years.

DOG STORY . . .
This is a story about a dog. A little dog.

A dog that many might consider a "cur" . . . but in our books he's a mighty friendly fellow. Intelligent, too.

He's a Milwaukee dog. Every morning at 9 he visits three homes in a Milwaukee suburb.

He patiently waits outside until the lady of the house lets him in.

He then comes in, nods his head to his "hostess", makes a tour of each room in the house, nods at any guests, eats a bit of breakfast, nods again to his hostess, then departs, repeating the same routine at two other homes.

We're told he hasn't missed his daily mission in months and that the folks can set their clocks by his punctual arrivals and departures . . .

PARTING THOUGHT . . .
Happiness doesn't just happen. It has to be earned.

Women Of The Moose Plan Amateur Program Saturday, November 13

Annual Book Fair At Elm Place School November 8-12

The annual P.T.A. sponsored book fair will be held in the Hall of pictures at the Elm Place School Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, November 8th, 9th, 10th, and 12th between 10 A.M. and noon and 1 P.M. to 5 P.M.

The event has created much interest in the past and should be even more successful this year due to the participation of our local book store—The Chestnut Court Book Shop.

By careful cooperation with the teachers and the parents the Chestnut Court Book Shop has selected for display and for sale an unusual collection of popular books proven to be what children enjoy. Both the new best sellers and the classics are included. All varieties of subject matter in fiction and non-fiction will be represented. Special displays of books on sports, music, gardening, pets and technical subjects within the realm of school age interest will be arranged in attractive order.

Books will range in price from very inexpensive to valuable collector's items. There will be books for all. The convenience of Christmas gift buying on this occasion and the advantages of the efforts by the teachers and the parents to feature and recommend the most suitable books is of splendid assistance.

Miss Hanscomb and Miss Turpin who direct the art and craftsmanship interests of the children have contributed much in the way of attractive posters and signs. The Fair will be staffed by school mothers as sales women and the invitation to children, parents and friends is to "browse" as well as to buy. The profit from the sale of books will be turned over, as in the past, by the P.T.A. to the library fund of the school.

Visual Education Used Widely In Schools Of District 108

The schools of District 108 recognize the old adage that "one seeing can be worth ten thousand tellings" by making audio-visual education an integral part of its curriculum.

Films (sound and silent), film strip materials, slides, radio programs, recordings, records, flat pictures are a few of the aids that are used by the teachers in helping the children obtain a clear, concise picture of the topics that they are studying.

Over one hundred pictures from such sources as Coronet, Eastin, Encyclopedia Britannica are used and shared by the various schools in the district. An examination of the film schedule reveals that there are pictures on safety (playground, home, bicycle) fireman, policeman, nature study, art, physical education (how to play various types of games, posture), geography, literature, history, music, and science. The support of the movie schedule comes primarily from the revenue collected from the sale of used papers and magazines. The programs are directed by Mr. Raymond Naegle, Principal of Ravinia School; Mr. Stanley W. McKee, Principal of the Lincoln School; Mr. Arno Wehle, Principal of the West Ridge School; Mr. Darrell Beam, Principal of the Braeside School.

Luncheon And Election Of Officers Planned By "Y" Nov. 9

The Annual Meeting and Election of Officers of the YWCA will be held Tuesday, November 9 at the "Y". Luncheon will be served at 12:00 followed by brief resumes on the activities of the various "Y" clubs by leaders of each group. This will include the Interfaith group, the Pi Deltas, the Creative Writers, the Dunbars, the Sewing Club, the Friendship, Saturday Evening and Mothers' clubs. Department chairmen will tell something of the work of their respective departments, their programs and plans for the ensuing year.

A large attendance is urged at the luncheon, as the occasion affords a splendid opportunity to learn what your YWCA is doing in your community. Telephone reservations by Monday, November 8 to the "Y" office, H.P.675.

Free Nursing Classes
