ELLSWORTH L. MILLS, II TAKES A BRIDE

The Oak Park Presbyterian church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Betty Annette Masters and Ellsworth Luther Mills, II, on Saturday, April 23, at 8:30 p.m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Benton Masters of River Forest and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mills of S. Sheridan road.

The bride's white satin gown made with a bustle and buttons down the back, had a very long train. Seed pearls trimmed the neckline and the long sleeves were pointed. The veil she wore was one of Belgian lace which Mrs. Mills brought back from Europe a few years back. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley.

Matron of honor was Mrs. James Gilmore, Jr. of Wynnewood, Pennsylvania, and Miss Harriet White attended as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. C. Byron Crain, Jr. (Nancy Mills) of Colorado Springs, Colorado and Miss Jane Massey, Jill Triessmann, niece of the bridegroom, acted as flower girl. Their gowns, identically made, were of pale pink, and they carried white hyacinths.

The grey crepe gown chosen by the bride's mother for the occasion was made with a matching lace bodice. Her corsage was of pink orchids. The bridegroom's mother wore beige crepe complemented by a corsage of green orchids.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dornbos, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom, of Spring Lake, Michigan; Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Van Lanep Jr. of Green Bay, Wisconsin and Mr. and Mrs. Don Wills of San Francisco, California.

A reception followed the ceremony in the Oak Park Country club.

After a wedding trip to Asheville, North Carolina, Mr. Mills and his bride will reside in Memphis, Tennessee.

On May 9, Miss Knox will appear in television over W.L.W.T., Cincinnati in "The Three Little Pigs". She has been chosen to be in charge of all children's plays to be given over the college radio station next year.

EDNA BRUDER WEDS

On Saturday, April 23, Miss Edna N. Bruder became the bride of Eugene P. Cunningham at 11:30 o'clock in the morning at the St. James church in a double ring ceremony. The Rev. James Gleason heard the exchange of nuptial vows. The bride is the daughter of the Fred Bruders of Lemont, Illinois, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Gene Foote of Los Angeles, California, and Robert Jewell of Washington, D. C.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white marquisette, made with a fitted bodice, full gathered skirt and long train. Wide lace trimmed the high neckline. The veil she wore was fingertip length. It fell from a tiara trimmed with orange blossoms and lace. She carried a bouquet of white tulips.

Miss Eleanor Bruder of Spring Valley attended her sister as maid of honor. She was gowned in hoop skirted white taffeta. The net bodice was made in "off the shoulder" style. The skirt was caught in two places and held by tiny rosebuds. She wore a bandeaux of flowers to match the colonial bouquet of white daisies and yellow jonquils which she carried.

The bride's other attendants were gowned like the maid of honor except that their gowns were in spring shades instead of white. Mrs. Theima De Palma, also sister of the bride, was in yellow; Miss Patricia Coleman wore lilac and Mrs. Agnes Jacaway was in aqua. They wore head-dresses to match their dresses, and also carried white daisies and yellow jonquils.

The little flower girls, Eileen Staniszeski, niece of the bride, and Dolores Jacaway were miniatures of the other attendants. Their ruffled gowns were of white taffeta. Each wore a bandeaux of flowers in her hair to match her bouquet, like the other attendants, also, on a smaller scale.

Miss Mildred Studeny sang "Ave Maria", "Panis Angelicus" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother".

The bride's mother was in grey with black accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore navy blue. Their corsages were of yellow roses.

Robert Cunningham of Greenville, South Carolina, served his brother as best man and Joseph De Palma, Frank Belmonti and David Reick ushered. Three year old Frank Belmonti, Jr. served as ring bearer.

A wedding dinner at 146 North avenue for the bridal party and relatives, followed the ceremony. A five tier cake formed the centerpiece for the reception held at 1:00 o'clock at Milani's Hall, Highwood. About five hundred attended.

Following a short honeymoon, Mr. Cunningham and his bride are now residing at 122 Prairie avenue, Highwood.
