Aqua Parade of 1949 At Chicago Arena June 23-July 3
 A hit in its debut here last year, "Aqua Parade of 1949", second edition of Buster Crabbe's elaborate combined water show and stage spectacle, comes to the Chicago Arena for an engagement June 23 through July 3. In addition to the 11 nightly performances at 8:30, Sunday matinees are scheduled June 26 and July 3.
 Even surpassing last year's surprisingly fine introductory edition, "Aqua Parade of 1949" is a fast-moving revue, abounding in grace, superb skill and beauty, interspersed with hilarious comedy.
 Crabbe, handsome movie star, former Olympic champion and producer of the aquatic extravaganza, has gathered a scintillating cast of champions, plus a host of the finest acts in show business. Further, he has molded this talent into a smoothly-paced show jam-packed with entertainment of the highest order.
 Outstanding star of "Aqua Parade" is Vicki Draves, world famous as a mermaid because of her double triumph at the Olympic Games in England last summer. Miss Draves, a petite, dark-haired lovely, is the only American athlete to win two Olympic Gold Medals, and the first girl in Olympic history to capture both diving events.
 Featured with Vicki in the aquatic portion of the program in the huge portable tank are Crabbe, one of the greatest swimmers ever to wear the colors of the United States in international competition; Elbert Root, finest fancy diver of all time; Stubby Kruger, water comedian; Patricia Robinson and Marian Hutton, swimming champions; Dick Smith, Johnny Riley, Frank Foster and Bill Lewin, all topflight diving champions. On the "Miracle Stage", other renowned performers include the Stuart Morgan Dancers, the Lucky Girls, Renald & Rudy, Al Gordon and his hilarious "Going to the Dogs", and Billy Rayes, star of four continents. Seven big production numbers and more than 20 specialty presentations are included in this brilliant lineup of stars, supported most ably by a stage and water ballet. In The Golf Clinic six master golfers pool their knowledge and tell the average player how to improve his game. Golf enthusiasts will recognize the authors as outstanding tournament players: Gene Sarzen, Sam Snead, Jim Ferrier, Ellsworth Vines, Lloyd Mangrum and Ed "Porky" Oliver.
 Not to be overlooked are the golf books of past seasons including Ben Hogan's Power Golf, Byron Nelson's Winning Golf, and Dick Metz's The Secret to Par Golf. These, coupled with serious practice, should improve many a game in addition to providing good rainy weather reading for those days when hearts are on the links even though the golfers aren't.
