given Thursday evening, August 19, at the Elm Place school.

The lecturer spoke in part as follows:

Jesus declared that his healing work was accomplished through his utilization of divine power. He said, "I can of mine own self do nothing." And again he declared, "The Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works." Through an understanding of the ever-presence and availability of the one omnipotent God or Father, miracles were performed by the ancient prophets; but until Jesus taught and illustrated the law of healing, through his comprehension of God as Love, only a few seemed able to utilize this divine Principle successfully in dispelling the inharmonies of human affairs.

A careful perusal of the record in the New Testament of Jesus' healing work reveals the fact that he used no drugs, no manipulation, no material hygiene, though he healed all manner of disease and raised the dead. His disciples, obedient to the teaching of Jesus, were successful in healing, and later many of the early Christians who had never seen the human Jesus, notably the Apostle Paul, did many mighty works in the name of the Master.

The scientific method employed by Jesus is recorded in the inspired writings of the Bible, a fact which becomes more and more evident after the way has been pointed out; but this was not discovered until 1866. It was then that Mary Baker Eddy, after a lifetime of faithful Bible study and communion with God, discovered the divine laws of healing which Christ Jesus utilized. She named her discovery Christian Science, and, in the years which followed, spent in listening for divine revelation, she wrote down, and thereby made easily available to all, the scientific rules of Christian healing. Her book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" contains the complete statement of Christian Science.

Anyone who is an alert Bible scholar may learn through an attentive examination of our textbook that the rules of healing given by Mrs. Eddy were obtained through a close study of the Bible and particularly of the healing works of Jesus.

A Definition of Christian Science
If we are to be at one with God we must learn how to follow in the footsteps of the humble Nazarene. We must be obedient to Paul's admonition, "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus." How plainly the beloved apostle has declared here that God is not a person, but supreme intelligence, or Mind, and that our need is to recognize our close communion or at-one-ment, with the Mind which is God.

We can discern through Paul's inspired instruction why Mrs. Eddy teaches us to make a clear differentiation between Jesus the human man and the Christ or Truth which Jesus expressed. The Christ-consciousness may be entertained by you and me, and it is through allowing the Christ to enter
