"That's possible," was the answer, "but when it comes to letting go of hard cash, we have to be very careful."

Typical Case

cially bone and joint surgery—is acute in a hospital that lacks a physical therapy department. Physical therapy and a trained physical therapist could have had Matthew walking much sooner, could have shortened greatly the length of time it is taking Bobby to progress from surgery to normal activity.

These are merely two samples of the many, many patients who could have saved both time and money—to say nothing of the nervous tension and the unhealthy mental attitude often resulting from an unnecessarily prolonged recuperative period — if physical therapy had been available.

And it is not alone the patients in need of bone and joint surgery who would benefit from physical therapy. Physical therapy, judiciously used by trained personnel, is the proper follow-up for most operations. It serves to soften scars and limber up muscles that have been put out of commission. It can be of great help in the treatment of patients suffering from the residuals which follow strokes, and is useful in handling arthritic conditions. As everyone knows, it is indispensable in the treatment of polio.

So patients like Bobby and Matthew are not the only people who will benefit immeasurably when Highland Park Hospital has a department of physical therapy such as is now being planned. Because physical therapy can be used advantageously in the treatment of so many diseases and injuries, practically every patient admitted to the hospital will recover more quickly. In other words, he will walk out of Highland Park Hospital instead of being carried home.

Church's Congressional Office Continues To Serve Constituents

Announcement was made this week by Mrs. Marguerite Stitt Church that the office of Congressman Ralph E. Church, who died on March 21, will remain in complete operation for a period of at least six months.

In response to numerous inquiries from constituents in the 13th Congressional district, Mrs. Church explained that a full complement of secretaries will be retained in Washington to accommodate the constituency, and that requests for information or aid should be addressed as usual to his office in the House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Residents of the district were given assurance by Mrs. Church that their requests and suggestions will receive the same prompt attention that was accorded them during the fourteen years that Mr. Church was supervising the business of his office, and that every possible assistance will be given them in dealing with governmental offices in the Capital.

THE WELCOMERS WISH TO GREET every family in the community. If you know of a Newcomer to Highland Park, call our hostess, Mrs. Margaret McKee, Glencoe 1071.

Woodland Home Owners Ask Special Assessment For Road Improvement

Members of the Highland Park Woodlands Home Owners Association voted unanimously to petition the city government to levy a Special Assessment for road improvements on their property, at a special meeting held at the Community Center, Friday evening, April 14th.

Eighty percent of the residents evidenced their desire to "get out of the mud" by voting to pay for and maintain the new streets themselves. Exhibiting the true American spirit of progress, these home owners repudiated the present national trend toward "something for nothing."

Col. Victor Brown, Publishing Director of the leading national magazine Roads and Streets, advised and guided the group in its choice of roads. Col. Brown, an eminent engineer, editor and author of books on roads, graphically outlined different types of modern road construction and, as a disinterested person, allowed the members to profit from an unbiased opinion in arriving at their decision.

Prior to the discussion on types of roads, Mr. Robert Badger addressed the meeting. Mr. Badger is an executive of The Tax Bond Company, and has offered to act as agent in selling the bonds necessary for financing.
