Girl Scout News

by Mrs. M. E. Tippey
A Pioneer week-end, last Friday and Saturday at the cabin, was the final wind-up of Day Camp work on the Pioneer Badge by twenty girls from Highland Park, Highwood, Deerfield and Bannockburn, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reintjes, Miss Deane White, and Mrs. Maurice Allsbrow conducted this outing, which was a success in spite of almost constant rain. Saturday morning they went for a hike to bring back some interesting piece of nature—insects, animals or plants. Carol Kluss, Mary Davidson, Judy Romer, Janet King and Helen Best found a big slab of fungus, big enough to write on. Susan Zimmerman found another bit of fungus shaped like a turkey, out of which she intends to make a pin. Some girls found a foxhole near the Rambler campsite. Mrs. Reintjes found a mole, drowned out of his burrow during the last rain.

Back in the cabin on account of heavy rain, the girls worked out plans for the necessary equipment for a primitive camping trip—one of the badge requirements. After lunch came a rest period, and a chance to listen to the World Series over Mary Davidson's portable radio. Then they read stories about early pioneer life and split up into four groups to plan and practice skits about these pioneers. One of the cleverest was about Johnny Appleseed (Joyce Ward, two boys (Helen Best and Barbara Mudge), and two bears (Peggy Dreschel and Barbara Slepian). Between rains, the girls made two caches—one dug in the ground and lined with stones—the other, a canvas one, hung from a tree. Also between showers the girls and Mr. Reintjes did the difficult job of gathering dry wood—it takes a large amount to keep a fire going in the indoor fireplace most of the time.

At bed-time, eight of the girls gathered on two cots and sang for the rest of the group. Peggy Lennox and Carol Kluss taught them a new camp song, "Witchcraft", and they sang "Little Picnic", "Campfire Lights", "Peace", and "Taps".

Up at six o'clock again Sunday morning—Beth Griswold had to be dumped out of her sleeping bag, as the worst sleep-head—another rainy day breakfast—and then home. Inez Harris was treasurer for the week-end, and figured the cost for the four meals at $1.10 per person—which showed good and careful planning by the girls.

Baby-sitting Offer
Any organization meeting during after-school hours can utilize the aid of Troop 147, grade Elm Place School, to watch their children at a group meeting place, just as the churches do on Sundays. Those interested should call Mrs. M. W. Briddle. The other leaders of this troop are Mrs. C. E. Parker, Mrs. J. E. Griswold, and Mrs. Arthur Meyerhoff. Four members of this service-minded troop—Kathy Parker, Ruth Griswold, Cynthia Langdon, and Sally Graham—recently helped to serve tea at the Golden Circle meeting of the Y.W.C.A.

It is a very special feeling to get a letter from a queen. Ask any girl from Troop 147, 46th grade, Elm Place School. Last spring the troop gathered together a large box of school supplies, cloth and conveniences for sewing, and sent it to the school children of Greece, in care of the Queen of Greece. Last week they received a courteous acknowledgement and thanks from the Royal Palace, written by the Marshal of the Court of Her Majesty the Queen, Mrs. J. R. Allen, Mrs. Hyman Ross, Mrs. Ira Brown, and Mrs. Vernon Tring, leaders of this troop, report that they are currently working on Campcraft and Outdoor Cook badges; with some of their meetings held outside in Mrs. Allen's back yard. They plan to build a trench fire and roast a dinner right there. Their chance for an overnight at the cabin will come on October 21—a Saturday, so that they may have a longer time of daylight.
