Welfare Wing Lays Plans For Bazaar, Tea, Fashion Show

Members of the Highland Park-Ravinia Infant Welfare Wing group met recently to make further plans for their annual bazaar, tea and fashion show, which will be held on Wednesday, November 29, at the Woman's Club. The doors will open at 1 p.m., and at 2:30 p.m., Hein's, of Waukegan, will present a fashion show.

The store will furnish its own models this year, as members of the group will be busy selling the many hand-made articles for household and personal use, as well as exquisite table decorations for Christmas.

Mrs. Glenn Keats has announced that the theme of the bazaar will be "Christmas Spirit", with candy canes for wall decorations and booths draped in white with icicles.

After a general business meeting of the group, held at the home of Miss Nancy Bach, refreshments were served by the co-hostesses, Mesdames Robert Nichols, Kirkpatrick Dilling, and Robert Thomas.
