children by prenatal care of the child.

Infant Welfare is a non-profit voluntary public health agency, supported entirely by private contributions. There is a board of directors composed of 25 laymen and women, four pediatricians, one obstetrician and one psychiatrist. Administrative staff is composed of 3 members, superintendent, medical director and extension secretary. An office force of six handles the clerical work.

The first center was founded in 1911. There are now 37 centers located in residential sections in or near Chicago and the present membership is over 3300. The Highland Park-Ravinia Center is divided into four groups and has approximately 300 members.

Seward Station is one of the two stations where the Highland Park-Ravinia groups assist the nurses. The Junior and Intermediate groups help the nurses every Tuesday by doing clerical work and washing babies. There are 21 stations in 21 districts. The stations are located in congested areas where infant mortality is high.

Expert Tells When To Plant Bulbs

Miss Helen Bergstrom, bulb chairman of St. Martha's Guild for their annual Garden Sale, recently told the committee of proper planting of bulbs.

Intelligent bulb planting is important, she stressed. Bulbs planted this fall will bring a riot of color next spring. Planted in groups, at the edge of a garden path, in the rock garden. Ideas are limitless and the reward great.

"Daffodils, narcissi, crocuses should be planted in September to mid-October and tulips as late as December, if ground is not frozen, but October to early November is better.

"Hyacinths, daffodils, and tulips should be planted about 6 inches deep; crocuses and other small bulbs about two inches. Spread bone meal or other fertilizer on top of ground after planting."

St. Martha's Guild will take orders at their Garden sale Saturday, May 26. Deliveries in September and October.

Junior Welfare Groups Contribute To Thrift

The Highland Park-Ravinia Junior center of Infant Welfare met on Monday, April 23. Group one met at the home of Mrs. John Baker of Lake Forest, while group two held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Mark Brown of Highland Park.

Members brought old baby clothing for the Thrift Shop, and reservations were made for the annual May luncheon.
