For the first time since 1941, when Highland Park was a member of the North Shore league it will be represented in a fast major softball league, when the Highland Park Merchants, who last year played as the VFW club, will compete in the newly formed Illinois-Wisconsin fastball league.

Last year, the Highland Park Merchants chalked up one of the best team records any Highland Park club has recorded since the war when they won 24 games and lost 9. This year, however, the team will have to play even better ball to equal that record as the Merchants already have lost the services of regulars Danny Coleman, Ernie Wieder and Bill Murphy, who were the mainstay of the club, to the army.

First home league game for the Merchants is set for Friday night, June 1, when they play host to Kenosha's "Tee" Service. To get themselves in shape for the opener, they have exhibition games booked at Libertyville on Sunday, May 20, and at home with Calumet City, Friday, May 25.

All boys 10 to 14 years of age are invited to attend the opening session of a baseball program to be conducted by the Highland Park Playground and Recreation Department at Sunset Park Saturday, May 6, at 10 a.m. Instructions will be given in the fundamentals of batting and fielding with teams being formed later in the program.

An undermanned but determined Beloit-Illini team pulled away in the last minute of play to beat the Bradley All Stars 89 to 79 last Saturday night at the Highland Park Recreation Center. The winners were powered by Highland Parkers Billy Kelly and two giants on the back boards, Ox Osterkorn and Doc Wieske. Kelly hit for 18 tallies, Osterkorn, Illinois all Big Ten center of 1950, got 20 and the amazing Wieske garnered 21 points. For the Bradley All Stars it was all "Squeaky"

A special music treat was enjoyed last week by the Highland Park Music club and friends at the Recreation center.

A collection of gypsy songs by Dvorak for solo voice was sung by five members of the Ensemble, each contributing individually to the interesting atmospheric flavor. They were accompanied by Miss Sandor.

An instrumental trio composed of Dorys Seelig, pianist, Beatrice Spachner, violinist, and Miriam Engelhard, cellist, gave a brilliant performance of Mendelssohn's Trio No. 1 in four movements.

Selections appropriate to the season were chosen by Miss Sandor for the Ensemble to conclude the program.

Storage Of Natural Gas Should Benefit Everyone

(Editorial) (From Waukegan News Sun)

A senate committee in the state legislature resumes hearings this week on a bill to invoke the right of eminent domain in connection with underground storage of natural gas in Illinois. Opposition is expected to develop solely from the United Mine Workers.

The theory of the miners' opposition, expounded by John L. Lewis, is that additional natural gas available in Illinois will reduce the market for coal, which has already been drastically reduced by the Lewis tactics in control of the miners.

Regardless of the argument on the use of coal, and there are some logical arguments given to support the contention that the market for Illinois coal will be improved instead of damaged, the value of a large storage space for natural gas to a large number of people is definite and great.

If the legislation passes, the operators of the natural gas pipelines will be under the control of Illinois Commerce Commission, and the operators will have to satisfy the owners of the property under which they hope to store gas. The scientific engineering details have been worked out, and it appears that the gas may be stored some 1,600 feet underground in an area in Kankakee County. The storage will have no effect on the use of the surface ground, on the water supply or any other property uses.

Through this underground storage system, the gas can be stored in the summer months and then used for home heating in the whole Northern Illinois district during the winter when the peak load demand for gas is more than can be supplied through the pipe lines.

The argument in favor of the storage plan as it affects Illinois coal miners is that now, with no use for the full daily capacity of the pipe lines in summer, and no large storage capacity, the gas is being sold to large industries, such as the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, and is being used in place of coal during the summer months.

The storage plan would benefit a vast number of people in the area served by the North Shore Gas Company. The company is now providing home heat to some 4,600 residents in this area. And on a waiting list are around 7,000 more residential units. If the gas could be stored in the summer and used during the peak demand in winter, a great many of these residents could be accommodated.

This is an instance in which the state legislature should pass the proposed bill because of the benefits to the great number of people in Illinois. The property in question will not be damaged. The gas will be available for use when it is needed, and it is indeed questionable that even the Illinois coal miners will suffer any loss.

Retail price ceilings on petroleum products affect nearly 400,000 service stations throughout the country.
