Siesta
Our small family has formed the habit of retiring each to his own room for a few winks of shut-eye at noon. Our little dog evidently had observed the custom. Recently I have found him, also, stretched out on a bed in a room by himself taking a noon-time siesta.

Perfect Timing

Since mother has been staying with us our dog Pal has adopted her as his special responsibility. Each night he has been going up stairs with her and sleeping on the floor at the foot of her bed.
But evidently her habit of staying so long in the bathroom has irked him. So now he stays down stairs with one ear pricked toward the stairway, and the minute he heard the final closing of the bathroom door he streaks up the stairs and takes his place at the foot of the bed.

Sociability
One evening friends dropped in for a spot of cards. We sat playing cards and smoking. Our little dog, a delightfully ugly toy sheep, after watching us thoughtfully for some time, retired to the kitchen. The next time I glanced up he was strolling proudly about the room, a clothespin held cigarette-wise between his teeth. I could make this really good by adding that he caught my eye and winked, but of course no one would believe that.

Follow the Leader
One day, while waiting for a bus, I noticed four lively dogs cavorting about in a vacant lot, evidently having all sorts of fun. Presently one separated himself from the group and crossed the street, with a noticeable limp. Then, very soon, I saw a second dog, also limping, cross to the other side to join dog No. 1. To my amazement a third-dog did the same, and I nearly fell over when I saw the fourth dog follow suit, seemingly having difficulty in getting across at all.
I wondered, compassionately, if the poor animals had encountered a trap, or had fed on poisoned food of some sort. I glanced at them, all now in the lot on the other side of the street. I nearly swallowed my tongue, for all four were now frolicking madly about with no sign of a limp.
They say that dogs play games, and my only solution to this situation is that they were playing a game of Follow the Leader.

A Poet Struts Her Stuff
We listened to the stilted verse,
While she, Homo Profundus,
Droned on, As strain grew worse,
We squirmed on our rotundas.
Outside, the Spring, blue skies and birds,
A hoard for versifier.
Plethoric use of garbled words
Sufficed to occupy her.
They cannot stand the test of time,
These recondite morasses.
Give me Longfellow's lilting rime,
The language of the masses.

Miss Oliver Advises Guild On Plantings

Miss Evelyn Oliver, whose hobby is gardening, when speaking to other members of the St. Martha's Guild last Monday said in part:

"Though perennials are, of course, important, annuals are the great glory of a garden throughout the summer. They include a variety of plants for cut flowers, borders and beds; and range from dainty sweet alyssum to brilliant giant marigolds and zinnias. Simple to plant, they yield enormous satisfaction for effort expended.
"Most annuals do best in a warm sunny spot, fairly rich soil and plentiful moisture. In this locale many people grow plants under glass during early spring, or purchase sturdy plants for transplanting when weather is warm enough. Shade plants are impatiens, begonias, tureenias, fushias and salvia."
The women of St. Martha's Guild of Trinity church will hold their annual garden sale on Saturday, May 26, in down-town Highland Park.

Ravinia Garden Club Announces Final Plans For Garden Fair

Final plans for the 22nd annual Garden Fair of the Ravinia Garden club to be held on Saturday, May 26, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. on the Ravinia Village green were announced Friday by Mrs. Sherman Clough, general chairman.

Offered for sale will be special flats of annuals grown from the seeds of last year's silver medal winners plus a variety of the usual annual flowers, vines, herbs and vegetables. A wide variety of fuchias, sultanas, ferns and other shade plants that do well in this area and many tuberous begonias have been ordered for the Fair by Mrs. William Riddle, who is in charge of the plants to be offered for sale.

Members will also contribute choice perennials from their own gardens which will be sold at special tables. Mrs. C. Longford Felske is in charge of the perennials.

A feature of the day will be a buffet luncheon to be served at noon. Food will be contributed from the members' own kitchens and will be served at colorful tables scattered over the green. Mrs. Nathan Corwith, Jr. assisted by Mrs. Edward Knox will be in charge of the food table and Mrs. Elwood Hansmann, beverages.

There will be a table of audubon stationery and post cards of floral prints for sale the proceeds of which will help the club carry on its work in the conservation field. Mrs. Arthur Strubel will be in charge of this project.

Other committee members assisting with the Fair are Mrs. Marvin Anthony, who is in charge of salesgirls, Mrs. Willard Ewing, mechanics, Mrs. Stanley Clague,

Mrs. E. W. Froehlich Hostess To Senior Citizens

The Golden Circle Club for the Senior Citizens of Highland Park will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday, May 24 in the home of Mrs. Edmund W. Froehlich, 620 Delta Road.

An interesting program of instrumental and vocal music has been planned by Mrs. Froehlich for the afternoon. Transportation will be provided for the club members and those interested in attending. The meeting is open to all the senior citizens of the community, and reservations may be phoned in to the YWCA HI 2-0675. They should be made by Tuesday evening, May 22.

Refreshments will be served by the Board of Directors of the Golden Circle. They will be assisted by girls from the Highland Park Girl Scout Council.

posters, and Mrs. George Hadlock, publicity.

Among the civics projects benefited by the sale is the Ravinia Rose Garden, founded and maintained by the club. The club also maintains the planting at the Ravinia station and has presented the village with many flowering trees and shrubs.

Through its affiliation with the Chicago Plant, Flower and Fruit guild, the Ravinia Garden club sends flowers to Downey hospital at Great Lakes, Ill. and each Tuesday, all summer, to Northwestern Settlement for the sick and the aged. Funds from the Fair provide for these activities.

Interfaith Group To Present Miss Mary Courtenay

Miss Mary Courtenay, assistant superintendent in charge of Special Education for the Chicago Board of Education, will be the speaker at the next meeting of the Interfaith group, to be held at 1:15 p.m. on Thursday, May 24, at the home of Mrs. W. M. Newman, 2344 Lakeside Place. A desert luncheon will be served, and the program will begin promptly at 1:45.

The public is always invited to attend these meetings. The subject of Miss Courtenay's address will be "Not Parity But Partnership." She received both her Bachelor and Master of Arts degrees from the University of Chicago, and her outstanding success in her chosen field is attested by the award which the University presented to her in 1944, an Honorary citation "for making education a vital force in the community."

Miss Courtenay is a Phi Beta Kappa, has served as high school teacher and dean, as a faculty member of the Chicago Teachers' college, as Principal of Gompers' School for Crippled Children, Dis-automatic laundry appliances!

Let modern automatic laundry appliances take the work out of washday. When you have an automatic washer you just put the clothes in, set the dial, and take them out minutes later all washed, rinsed and spun partially dry. (No more unwinding socks from a wringer or lifting clothes from tub to tub.) When you take them from the washer, you'll toss them into the automatic clothes dryer where they'll tumble dry in no time at all. (No more struggling with heavy baskets or wrestling with clotheslines!) Then you'll sit down in front of your automatic rotary ironer and polish off the ironing quiddy and easily. (No more standing for hours at a stretch.) Let these three do the work while you relax!
