A Handsome House
And Random Notes . . .

Before seeing "The Heiress" at the Tenthouse, we strolled over to 722 Yale Lane, just a couple of blocks away, to see that handsome, 2-bedroom ranch house built by the capable lads studying vocational business trades at Highland Park High.

Scores of other folks inspecting this fine new home were as impressed as this reporter was over the trim lines of the house which is painted a California-style pink.

Sealed Bids . . .

The house, appraised at more than $21,000, will be sold to the highest bidder—and he'll be a lucky man if he gets this delightful house.

Sealed bids, accompanied by a certified check for 10 per cent of the bid, should be sent to the Board of Education, Highland Park High School, Vine and St. Johns. Bids will be publicly opened at the Board meeting of June 13 at 7:30 P.M. Bids will be accepted up to 4 P.M. of that day. All bids will be considered, we're told, and the Board reserves the right to refuse any bids less than $21,500.

The highly attractive furnishings and lovely interior work were done by girl students in the decorating and furnishing classes at our high school under Miss Dora Bean's instruction.

Popular Walt Durbahn was in overall charge of the building and you can easily see his skillful touches throughout.

Yes, here indeed is a lovely home!

Tenthouse Notes . . .

It's fine having the Tenthouse back in Highland Park! "The Heiress", opening play of the season, was excellent—far better than the Academy-winning movie, in the opinion of most first-nighters.

Lovely Marrian Walters is the best actress on the American stage today, in our opinion. And we've seen Helen Hayes, Gertrude Lawrence, and other top actresses—but Miss Walters is still superior, in our book.

Barney Hughes, who can make a character come to life better than anyone I've seen, is back and tops again. You'll not find any actor his peer.

Helen Stenborg, Mrs. Barney Hughes, is excellent and keeping pace with Tenthouse veterans. A young star with a bright future who is a most convincing actress.

Newcomer David . . . , ex-Navy pilot, and an accomplished actor, brings the dash of Hollywood to Highland Park, and he's a most welcome addition.

Pretty Christy Palmer is back. And so is Sunda Love.

Gerard Appy is another likeable newcomer and so is Shirley Reyes.

It's good to have you back, Tenthouse!

Next play, "Goodbye Again", beginning June 12. Talented "Mike" Ferrall directs.

Annual Rose Show In Memorial Garden

The annual Rose Show, highlighting the month of June in Highland Park, at the time when local rose gardens are at their best, will be held on June 24 in Memorial Rose Garden, according to William Weninger, president of the Men's Garden club.

Last year over a thousand specimens were shown, rose gardeners vying with each other in the number and quality of the blooms. It is expected that this year's blooms will equal them in beauty.
