Did You Know Hayfever Is Caused By Love— Love of the Ragweed for Its Mate?

In the Fall a ragweed's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love and this month, throughout most of the United States, every upstanding ragweed will be on the hunt for a mate.

All this seedy pursuit of happiness is all right for ragweeds but it's tough on you if you are one of the millions who suffer hay fever as the result of inhaling pollen. In that case you cannot afford to look down your nose at the activities of the young ragweed Romeo and Juliets. Many of them may not find each other, but find your nose instead. Worse, they may even have a date there.

In that case you ought to know about Neohetramine (2-(N-dimethyl-aminoethyl-N-p-methoxybenzyl)-amino-pyrimidine mono-hydrochloride) and don't sneeze at that either. This interesting sounding and acting drug, a product now made available by Wyeth Incorporated on a doctor's prescription, has been found tests to give relief to 82 per cent of seasonal hay fever sufferers, and what is most remarkable of all, with almost complete absence of deleterious, or "side," effects.

These tests, as reported by Drs. Leo H. Crip and Theodore H. Aaron of the University of Pittsburgh Medical School and Montefiore Hospital to the American Academy of Allergy, showed Neohetramine to be the safest of all similar drugs. In fact the incidence of side effects was so low that they named it the "safest" antihistaminic.

Neohetramine, the physicians showed, has also proved startlingly effective in curing or moderating headache, bronchial asthma, the skin eruption known as urticaria, and allergic rhinitis. The tests were extensive, 124 hay fever sufferers being treated with Neohetramine by Drs. Crip and Aaron.

The development of Neohetramine is the result of clever medical detection work. Allergies are a comparatively recent medical discovery. The word "allergy" has been in the language only half a century. It is now known that the inhalation of pollens, especially that of ragweed, can produce asthma, sneezing, face swelling and other allied symptoms. Many foods, shellfish and strawberries for example, wool, cat fur and scores of other things may cause various unhappy reactions among those allergic to them.

When a disease germ enters the body, the body automatically sets up its own defense by manufacturing anti-bodies to combat the germ. Pollens and other allergens are also met in the body with anti-bodies. But the real villain of the hay fever and other similar grieves is now believed to be a chemical called histamine which is normally found in minute quantities in most of the body tissues. Pollen and the antibodies it creates combine to cause the liberation of histamine in the body. The histamine in turn dilates the blood vessels so that the tissues which the blood vessels feed become swollen and gorged, like the stomach of a man who has eaten far too much. When the tissues of the mucous membrane of the nose get this indigestion and stomachache, the result is hay-fever or perhaps rhinitis. Other tissues so afflicted may result in hives, asthma or worse.

Histamine thus acts as a sort of fifth columnist in the body for allergens. But it was only recently that histamine's devious underground work was discovered. Once that was established, however, the research laboratories got to work and developed the so-called antihistaminics. Of these, Neohetramine, as shown in the Crip-Aaron report, is the least likely to produce in the patient such side reactions as dizziness and drowsiness.

The antihistaminics have been found valuable also in other respects—notably in overcoming certain patients' allergies to drugs which it is necessary to administer to them. During a recent operation for tumor at Temple University Hospital, penicillin injections had to be given a woman patient. To these she showed pronounced and dangerous allergic reactions, which disappeared when the surgeons administered Neohetramine.

The great value of antihistaminics to medicine can be appreciated when it is remembered what a tremendous field is covered by allergies. Certain persons, for example, are allergic to cold and a sudden dip in too cold water or too prolonged swimming may result in death. Others are allergic to heat. The list of allergens run the gamut from cat's fur to milk.

The case of a man who broke into a rash on Monday mornings puzzled physicians for months. They tested him for one allergy after another until they remembered that his rash always occurred on Mondays. Then the answer finally came. He was allergic to funny papers—that is to the ink used to print them.

There are also allergies which are of psychogenic origin. A woman married for five and a half years had suffered asthma for five years of that time. She went to Arizona, was cured within a few months and returned East to her husband. Five months later she had asthma again. She went back to Tucson and was again cured. Her husband moved to Tucson to be with her. Five days later she was hospitalized with an acute attack of asthma.

Probably Neohetramine would have done no good in this case. Reno was the cure. Since her divorce the lady has lived in the East and has suffered no recurrence of her asthma. She was simply allergic to her husband.

Lake County Fair To Have Real "Country" Flavor

Folks who like a good old-fashioned Country Fair with plenty of country flavor will find it in the Lake County Fair opening at Wauconda, Illinois on Thursday, August 2, and continuing through Sunday night, August 5, according to an announcement by Ray T. Nicholas, Farm Adviser.

Here is a Fair that has lost none of that spirit that makes it a genuine country fair. It is a fair in which young and old alike will find amusement, relaxation, and entertainment. It is a fair that will convince you that our young people are going places. You'll thrill with the 600 4-H Club boys and girls exhibiting their prize livestock, cookies, cakes, room improvement, and clothing exhibits.

Fair visitors will see some of the best animals in the country at the Lake County Fair. Many of Lake County's livestock breeders, known throughout the Midwest, will show their outstanding animals at the show.

Although the livestock is a big feature of the fair, it is not the only attraction. There'll be thousands of exhibits of gorgeous flowers, row after row of fresh crisp vegetables, and a tent filled with fine and domestic art exhibits. And for those whose interests lean toward culinary, the shelf upon shelf of canned fruits, vegetables, meat, jams, jellies, pickles, rolls, cookies, pies, and cakes should have a special appeal.

In the Midway you'll find all kinds of rides and refreshment stands. A high class free entertainment will be presented every afternoon and evening.

WHEN YOUR "E" BONDS MATURE

The Treasury Department offers three choices to holders of Series E, United States Defense Bonds, when their Bonds mature:

Choices: You may: One, accept cash, if you so desire; Two, continue to hold the present bond with an automatic interest-bearing extension; Three, exchange your bonds in amounts of $500 or multiples for a Defense Bond of Series G, which earns current income at the rate of 2½ percent payable semi-annually.

Action: If you want to obtain cash, you simply present your bond, with proper identification, to any paying agent. If you want to extend the matured bond you have ABSOLUTELY NOTHING TO DO—just continue to hold it. Extended bonds may be cashed at any time you wish. If you want a G Bond, see your bank for details.

Interest: The extended bond will earn simple interest on the face amount at the rate of 2½ percent for the first seven and one-half years. Thereafter it will be at a higher rate sufficient to provide a total return for the 10-year extension period of 2.9 percent compounded.

Taxes: You have the choice of (1) reporting E Bond interest for Federal income taxes on an annual basis or (2) paying the taxes on the interest in the year when the bonds finally mature or are redeemed. The privilege of deferring taxes does not apply if the E Bond is exchanged for a G Bond.
