

The Affections of May

"Everybody knows your business," May points out. Amazingly, the gossips stick relatively close to the truth. May (born in June) feels as if she is living in a glass house. Well no - her housekeeping would prevent that.

Because of circumstances revealed in the play, May will need to borrow from the Bank to keep her rooming house open. The Bank Manager is Hank Beavis, who is practising his own ways of establishing credit ratings.

As soon as "Little Shop of Horrors" closed last Saturday night, the scenery came down, and the sets for "The Affections of May" were set up in the Village Playhouse, in Bancroft.

The new play is now in daily rehearsal, in preparation for next Wednesday.

Do we plan to see it? Certainly! We would not want to miss a presentation by this group of talented and dedicated, local citizens.

And since they recommend the content of the play, it should be good.

Sponsor of this play is Wilson's Homecare.

Trula Dagenais, a well known local artist, opened a new shop at her residence on the South Baptiste Lake Road, in late June, 1995.

Her shop is to be known as TD's Art Shoppe.

The shop will offer custom framing, shrink wrapping, and gifts.

TD's Art Shoppe also includes a gallery displaying the work of local artists and crafts persons. On display for opening was a collection of paintings by

*Margaret Forde (The Art Stop), *Claire Loft, *Paul D. Cooke, *David Kay,

*Steve Dunsford,

*Harriette Dalley, *and Anita Neuman. Mary Lou Robb presented several custom photographs.

An impressive variety of crafts were on show. John Kerry displayed unique vessels formed on the lathe from naturally stressed woods. Trula also has her own lovely wood carvings and art work using the medium of pastels. Dorothy Parshall will be adding her pottery to the line of gifts for sale.

There is a fine selection of framing material suitable for all mediums of artwork.

The shop is located near the intersection of Woodcox Road.

KEEP AWAY

FROM THE DAM!

Bancroft O.P.P. This detachment has received several complaints of children swimming at the dam behind Whitfield's Hardware store, in Bancroft.

The property is marked "No Trespassing" and there is some concern because of the rapid running water at this point. Children and parents are urged to use caution when attending at this point as they could be charged with trespassing.

BANCROFT O.P.P.

On Monday, July 03, officers investigated a threatening complaint that occurred in the Bancroft area. A young male person was approached by another male at the I.G.A. parking lot in Bancroft and was verbally threatened.

Bancroft O.P.P. On Wednesday, July 12, police received a complaint of theft that had occurred at Park's Valu-Mart in Bancroft. A female was at the grocery store and had placed her purse in the cart while she retrieved an item from the shelf. When she turned back, she noticed that her purse was missing. The purse contained cash, credit cards, and personal identification.

"There is a yard outside for the kids," the ladies add.
