"The biggest Hell Drivers night ever" was enjoyed on Thursday night, she reports.

"We had a good night" for the musical Leahey family, on Friday night.

"It's been a wonderful day," Lois McCaw added of Saturday. "It's been really busy - a really good day."

The grounds were crowded on Satur-

Kelly Wood and Kelly Thompson, with their horse, Perry, wait for their event on the track at the Coe Hill Fair and annex were filled with vegetables, preserves, baking, and craft works.

"There is a good balance of Agriculture, Cultural, and Fun," Albert Vader summed it up.

STORM

Lois McCaw adds a great round of applause for the people of Coe Hill following the severe storm of July 15.

Forming into a tornado, the storm had ripped across the race track, lifting and then depositing a large number of large trees.

The funnel lifted as it passed the grandstand and announcing stand; but it came down again at the animal barns.

It demolished the poultry barn. It lifted the pig barn, and deposited this by the river. "The tornado really put us back."

People of the community donated time, equipment, skills, and whatever else was needed. Contractors donated time with their backhoes to clear the rubble. Seven local carpenters built new barns for the poultry and pigs.

Community Cupboard

The North Hastings Community Cupboard will be celebrating its third Anniversary in September.

It has been a very challenging three years, to say the least, agrees Lois Caya, of the Community Cupboard.

Meeting the needs of the hungry in our community is not easy. The Community Cupboard can feed as many as 250 families in one month, and your continued support is crucial to the nutritional health of our children.

When making a donation of a non-perishable food item, keep in mind the following items: diapers, baby formula, lunch/school snacks, powdered or canned milk, beans, tinned meats, soups, pasta, etc.

AM1240 [radio], CJNH, has decided to join forces with the Community Cupboard to present the End of Summer "Laugh-can feed as many as 250 families in one month, and your continued support is crucial to the nutritional health of our children. It promises to be a night of music and
