Decoration Day at Wilberforce United Church

By Stewart Smith

"This is a time of praise - and pain and sorrow," the Rev. Kristal McGee reminded the congregation which filled Wilberforce United Church, on Sunday morning, August 13, for the Decoration Day service.

"It is a time to celebrate the lives [of deceased loved ones]; to acknowledge the grief; and to celebrate as a community."

Kristal McGee was accompanied to the service by her husband, Arunas Liskauskas, and their toddler daughter. She wore, for part of the service, a brilliant stole (preaching scarf) from Guatemala.

She was assisted in the worship by Bob McMath, minister of the Tory Hill pastoral Charge (Gooderham and Wilberforce United Churches). Organist was Elsie Lewis.

During the afternoon, many people tended the graves of loved ones, in the cemetery across the road from the church.

There was a similar Decoration Day Service the week before (Sunday, August 6), in Christ Church, Essonville. That was attended by 92 people.

Assisting in the worship were the Rev. Christopher Greaves (Anglican); Harold Lewis (Harcourt Chapel); and Mrs. June Woodcox (Wilberforce Full Gospel).
