

Tuesday, Feb. 21st

"The importance of these figures," said Dr. Godfrey yesterday, "is apt to be overlooked. When you stop to figure that 133,847 people supplied with the diphtheria toxoid means that that number of people are immune this year, and from now on, from the disease, some idea of the value of our departmental work can be gathered. The same thing applies to the scarlet fever serum and the smallpox vaccine."