'Spare Chairs,' Yanks' Order In Legislature

When the officers and men of the Yankee Division visited the Ontario Legislature yesterday, they were considerably more solicitous for the furnishings of the building than were American forebears who burned the Parliament Buildings 130 years ago.

As the Americans stood at attention, and the spectators looked on in awed silence, Lieutenant George Johnson, a raw-boned young Swedish-American, barked the following order:

"At my command we will be seated. Sit on the forward edge of the chair. Be careful not to scratch the furniture!"
