Another Young photo, taken about 1920, caught SINALOA, all iced up, waiting for downbound passage through the Soo Locks.

SINALOA, in American Steamship colours, was photographed from PUT-IN-BAY in the St. Clair River by J. H. Bascom on August 25, 1951.
