

GLENLEDI, now in C.S.L. colours, is upbound in Little Rapids Cut in a 1926 Young photo. Note the "billboard" on her side.

Downbound on Lake Huron with a full load of grain. RENVOYLE was caught in the late 1930s by the camera of Capt. William J. Taylor.

It is June 1, 1967, and RENVOYLE lies at anchor in the St. Clair River off Port Huron after sinking SYLVANIA. Note her bow damage.
