Town of Milton to appeal decision not to give Milton another Catholic school board trustee

Halton Catholic board trustees vote for status quo for 2018 election

twhitnell@burlingtonpost.com

The Town of Milton intends to appeal a decision by the Halton Catholic District School Board not to give Milton an extra trustee for the upcoming municipal election despite a recommendation from the school board's own staff to do so.

At the March 6 board meeting, Halton Catholic board staff recommended, based on prescribed mathematical calculations, that the number of trustees remain at nine for the municipal elections in Ontario, to be held Oct. 22.

However, staff also advised trustees that based on formulae used to determine the trustee distribution electoral quotient in individual municipalities, Milton should double its trustee complement, to two from the current one, with Oakville losing one trustee, from four down to three, in order to remain at nine trustees.

To not increase Milton's trustee number leaves the board open to the risk of the municipality appealing the decision to the Ontario Municipal Board, said school board staff.

Halton Catholic school board trustees voted to keep the trustee complement at nine.
