

Town of Milton recognized as youth-friendly community

The Town of Milton is a certified youth-friendly community.

So declares the Play Works Youth Friendly Community Recognition, which has recognized the town with gold-level distinction based on 10 criteria.

"I am proud of Milton's commitment to being youth-friendly," said Milton Mayor Gord Krantz. "This recognition reaffirms our commitment to youth and our investment in tomorrow's leaders"

The achievement improves upon the silver designation attained by the town in 2014.

Since then, the town has focused on partnering with community organizations to advance Milton as a youth-friendly community. The town recently announced that a youth strategy is currently being developed to further assess youth needs and set priorities for service requirements.

"This recognition is a testament to the dedication of staff and community partners who continue to champion for youth in our community" said Kristene Scott, commissioner of community services. "This acknowledgement demonstrates our commitment to youth and to ensuring that services and programs are available in Milton."

Play Works is the Ontario partnership for active and engaged youth.
