Group aims to ease housing crisis for parents of adults with developmental disabilities

As parents and caregivers of young adults with developmental and intellectual disabilities continue to age, so too does the waiting list for supportive housing and services.

A Halton-based group is tackling that crisis, and recently held a social awareness evening to share their goals and message.

The housing issue was the focus of the Cribwolf Foundation event at Millcroft Golf & Country Club April 13, when founders Lino Fera and Matt George presented their mission statement to parents and organizations - including Christian Horizons, ICC (Intentional Community Consortium) and DSO (District Services Ontario) - involved in caring for adults with disabilities.

Cribwolf's plans include a proposal for the construction of a community-central multi-unit residential building for adults over the age of 21 with intellectual and/or developmental disabilities.

The organization unveiled EQL (Enriching the Quality of Life), a movement focused on raising awareness for special needs individuals and improving the conditions in which they live.

Sharing their message 'Let us help those who cannot help themselves', Cribwolf also launched a new online resource (Cribwolf.com) for those closely involved with special-needs individuals.

Community Fund grant applications open May 28

The Town of Milton will begin accepting applications for the Milton Community Fund grant program beginning May 28.

The MCF supports not-for-profit organizations whose initiatives add to the quality of life within the community or enhance the image of Milton.

Applications will be accepted until Sept. 10, and successful applicants will be awarded funds in January 2019.

The MCF was established by Milton council in 2001 to distribute a portion of the funds received from the Ontario Lottery and Gaming Corporation (Woodbine at Mohawk Park). Over the past 17 years, the fund has distributed more than $6.1 million to a wide range of not-for-profit community organizations and individuals.

Last year, Milton council approved the distribution of $252,641 in grants to support 35 organizations.

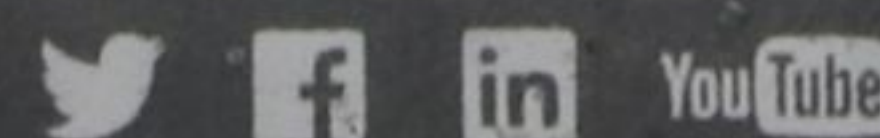

"This program supports local organizations who contribute to our community," said Mayor Gord Krantz. "The support provided through the community fund recognizes their contributions to making Milton a place of possibility for people of all ages."

The change to this year's timeline for applications is due to the 2018 municipal election and appointment of a new council.

To view application criteria and access application forms, visit www.milton.ca/communityfund or call 905-878-7252, ext. 2539.
