

Persistent Milton man charged with criminal harassment

A Milton man is facing charges following a police investigation into the harassment of a 34-year-old Milton woman.

The woman reported that she had been receiving several text messages from an unknown man and unknown phone number. She reported that she had initially ignored the text messages, but they increased in frequency and content.

As the woman continued to receive this unwanted communication, she repeatedly attempted to ask who was sending the messages and told the person to stop. The sender would only identify as a man with a name "Sam."

Each time the man texted the woman on a new date, it was with a different cell number. As the correspondence escalated, the woman began to feel concerned as the content of some of the text messages became more and more personal. The text messages also graduated to phone calls.

The woman received more than 250 calls and text messages from the unknown man known as "Sam." Despite attempts to cease communication, the unknown man persisted with the unwanted communication.

On June 8, the woman was in a Milton store when she believed she came face to face with "Sam." When the woman confronted the man about her suspicions, he took off and fled the area.

Shortly after leaving the store, the woman spoke with the unknown man on
