

TIME TO THINK PINK: HALTON'S HOPE IN HIGH HEELS WALKS FAST APPROACHING

Men across the region will soon be putting their best foot forward in united opposition of violence against women.

And they'll do so in quite stylish fashion.

Pink pumps will be donned throughout Halton for the annual Hope in High Heels walks.

The events will once again be hosted by Halton Women's Place, who'll be providing the high heels, and will offer men and boys the chance to be a part of the solution.

"We know that we need men engaged in this issue in order to see the reduction — and ultimately — the end of violence against women," said Halton Women's Place development manager Carm Bozzo, whose organization offered shelter to 164 women and 164 children last year. "We encourage boys and men of all ages to join us on this day to show their support and to make a bold statement that abuse and violence is never OK."

Halton-area walks will be held:

- Saturday, Sept. 15 at Troy's Diner in Milton (295 Main St. E.), starting at 12:30 p.m. Former CFL Chuck Winters will once again be the guest speaker, and Troy's will be giving each walker a gift certificate for lunch. Hand Heart and Sole Wellness will be on hand providing 15-minute foot massages. Sign up at <https://www.gifttool.com/athon/SignUp-Mode?ID=85&AID=3815>

- Saturday, Sept. 22 at Emma's Back Porch in Burlington (2084 Old Lakeshore Rd.), with registration at 10 a.m. and the walk getting underway at 11 a.m. Emma's is once again offering participants a complimentary lunch. Register at

- Sunday, Sept. 23 at Oakville Town Square (corner of Lakeshore and Navy), with registration at 10 a.m. and the walk beginning at 11 a.m. The Works Oakville is once again providing each walker with a free lunch. Sign up at <https://www.gifttool.com/athon/SignUp-Mode?ID=85&AID=3813>
