

UNION GAS, EMPLOYEES, RETIREES AGAIN SUPPORT UNITED WAY

Union Gas employees and retirees continued their strong support with a recent donation of $36,940 to United Way of Halton & Hamilton.

Numerous employee-led fundraising events throughout the year, in addition to individual donations, raised half the funds, which the company matched for the final figure.

"Union Gas is a strong supporter of United Way and the important work they contribute to this community," said Mark Egbedeyi-Emmanuel, district manager Halton Union Gas.

"(Union Gas's) gifts to our local community provide children, adults and seniors access to a network of life changing programs," said United Way Halton & Hamilton's manager of resource development Danielle Charron.

"Thank you... for spreading local love, ensuring the community is the best it can be and showing you are true life changers.

"United Way Halton and Hamilton's efforts ensure more than 200,000 people receive the support they need to help them cope and move beyond local pressing issues such as poverty, education inequality, mental illness and senior isolation, added Charron.

Funds will go to support agencies and programs that address the local needs of the communities they serve.

The mission is to improve lives and strengthen the community by engaging individuals and mobilizing collective action.
