The Tennessee Vendetta.

A FEUD OF TWENTY YEARS ENDED.

(From the Louisville Journal.)

Correspondent at Elizabethtown. Carter county, Tennessee, gives us the purticulars of a terrible feud that has been raging for twenty years between two brought to an end by the bloody death of the sole surviving males of the warring tribes, in the streets of Elizabethtown, on the evening of the 5th instant. The history of the affair, as detailed by our correspond nt, is as follows: -In the fall of 1846 a tamily named

Johns one removed from the neighboring) county of Wautanga. North Carolina, into Carter county. East Tennessee. and settled down in the neighborhood of an settled down in the neighborhood of an other family named Rogers. Johnstone, who appeared to be an energetic industrious man. immediately, went to work clearing up undergrowth, burned stumps | and split rails to tence in the ground he reclaimed from the wilderness. In this he was assisted by two sons-both were lads. While the three were engaged erecting fencing about their patch of land Rogers rode up to where they were at work, one day, and laid claim to a pile of rails, about a dozen in number. This claim Johnstone disputed and final
