There were two nines. These nines were antagonists. The ball is a pretty little drop of softness, the size of a goose The two nines play against each other. It is a quiet game, much like chess, only a little more chase than chess.

There was an umpire. His position yells 'fowl.' His duty is severe.

I took the bat. It is a murderous plaything, descended from Pocahontas a nice pitcher, but he sent the balls hot. The man behind me was a catcher .-He caught it too!

Umpire said 'play.' It is the most radical play I know of, this base ball. Sawing cordwood is moonlight rambles besides base ball. So the pitcher sent another. I hit it with the club, and hove it gently upward. Then I started to walk to the first base. The ball hit in the pitcher, or in his hands, and somebody said he caught a fly. Alas, poor fly! I walked leisurely toward I turned to see how he was making it, and a mule kicked me on the cheek .-The man said it was the ball. It felt like a mule, and I reposed on the grass. The ball went on!

Pretty soon there two more flies, and and three of us flew out. Then the other nine came in, and us nine went out .--This was better. Just as I was stand- A ing on my dignity in the left field, a hot ball, as they called it, came skyrocketing towards me. My Captain yelled, 'take the bell was aiming to descend. I have a good eye to measure distances, and I saw at a glance where the little ærolite was to light. I put up my hands.-How sweetly the ball descended .- SUGAR 10 lbs., 11 lbs., and 13 lbs. per $1. CURRANTS, 20 lbs. for $1 Everybody looked-I felt something TEAS, Young Hyson, Old Hyson, Gunpowder, Ping Suey, Black. Japan. &c. a cannon ball!' For three days I've had two pounds of raw beef on that eye, and yet it paineth! Then I wanted to go home, but my gentle captain said 'nay.' So I nayed and stayed. Pretty soon it was my strike. 'To bat!' yelled the umpire. I went, but not all serene, as was my wont. The pitcher sent in one hip high. It struck me in the gullet. 'Fowl,' will secure cheap goods. yelled the umpire. He sent in the ball again. This time I took it square and sent it down the right field, through a parlour window-a kerosene lamp and rip up against the head of an infant, who was quietly taking its—nap in his or its mother's arms. Then I slung the bat I heard high words and looked. When I slung the bat I had with it broken the jaw of the umpire, and was fined ten cents.

is so much fun to run from base to base just in time to be put out, or to chase a while all the spectators yell 'muffin 'home run!' 'go round again!' 'go it!' or 'go round a dozen times!' Base ball is a sweet little game. When it came my turn to bat again. I noticed every body move back about ten rods! The new umpire retreated twelve rods. He was timid. The pitcher sent them in hot. Hot balis in time of war are good. But I don't like 'em too hot for fun .-After a while I got a fair clip at it, and you bet it went, cutting the daisies down the right held. A fat man and his deg sat in the shade of an oak enjoying the game. The ball broke one leg of the was taken home to die.

came toward me from the bat at the rate of nine miles a minute. I put my hands-the ball went sweetly singing on its way with all the skin from palms

That was an eventful chap who firs invented base ball. It's such fun. I've played five games, and this is the result. Twenty-seven dollars paid out for Bronte, April 18th, 1867.

One bunged eye badly bunged. One broken little finger. One hump on the head. Niueteen lame backs. A sore jaw. One thumb dislocated. Three sprained ankles.

Five swelled lega. One dislocated shoulder from trying to throw the ball a thousand yards. Two hands raw from trying to stop think I like the game. There is not a square inch on, in or under me but aches. I sleep nights dreaming of hot balls 'flys,' 'fouls,' and descending 'sky rockets.' I never worked so hard since Ruth stole wheat and never was so lame since the burning of Luther.

But I am proud of my proficiency in the game. It's fine exercise-a lit essier than run through a thrashing ma chine, and not much, cither. It's a nice change.
