J. D. MATHESON, Proprietor.

VOLUME 9. NUMBER 24.

ded to ds and 40-ly

STEEL

all early will find

ies

Epe Cinadian Champion

THURSDAY MORNING of each week, at Milton, Halton County

IS PUBLISHED BVERY

Ontario, by J. D. MATHESON, Proprietor.

OFFICE, ON MAIN STREET. Terms-$1 a year in advance, or within one month from the date of subscribing, if not so paid, $2 will be charged. RATES OF ADVERTISING. Eight cents per line for the first insertion, and two cents per line for each subsequent Business Cards of eight lines or less $4 HOUSE PAINTER, GLAZIER, AND PA-The number of lines to be reckoned by the space occupied, measured by a scale of solid Brevier. A liberal discount allowed on advertisements inserted for extended periods. Advertisements without specific instructions inserted till forbid, and charged ac-

Any Special Notice, the object of which is to promote the pecuniary benefit of any individual or company, to be considered an advertisement, and charged accordingly.

Business Directorn.

W. H. Street, M. D., PHYSICIAN, SURGEON AND ACCOUCH-EUR. Office and Residence-That lately occupied by Dr. Crooker.

Milton, Oct. 10, 1866. D. Robertson, M. D., C. M., GRADUATE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF McGill College, Montreal, Milton, Ont. Exchange Hotel Office and Residence-One door South of the Post Office, Foster Street. Milton, Sept. 10, 1863.

T. B. Winn, M. B.

Office and Residence-That lately occu-Day-Every Thursday. Nassagaweya, Nov. 1, 1866.

JOHN DEWAR, Jr., BARRISTER, COUNTY CROWN ATTORney, Notary Public &c., &c,. Town Hall, Main Street, Milton.

THOMAS DIXON, BARRISTER-AT-LAW, &c. OFFICE-Opposite the Halton House, Main Street, Milton, May 17th, 1869. T. G. MATHESON, B. A., BARRISTER, &c. OFFICE-IN THE Town Hall, Milton.

Milton, April 7th, 1869, J. E. Lennon, -ATTORNEY AT LAW, SOLICITOR IN

Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c., Oakville Ontario. Money to loan on real and personal security; sales of land negotiated Aug. 26th, 1869.

S. R. LISTER, DIVISION COURT CLERK, COMMIS- patronage will receive every attention. sioner in Queen's Bench, Licensed Auctioneer, Accountant, &c. Debts collected on Commission. Nassagaweya, April 5, 1864.

James A. Frazer,

County of Halton. Residence-Milton. T. Ruston,

CHEMIST AND DRUGGIST. SEEDS. Dye-stuffs, Stationery &c. Main Street, Georgetown.

Canadian Hotel

OAKVILLE. JAMES TEETER, PROPRIETOR. This hotel has lately been extensively Money to Loan refitted, and the proprietor is determined to N Real Estate. Interest at eight per make it a First Class House Liquors of the best brand kept always on hand. Oakville, July 1st, 1868.

E. DeGarmo,

BURLINGTON HOTEL, WELLINGTON Square. Comfort, moderate charges, and unremitting attention to guests still continue to mark the management of this first-class Hotel. The Stables and Yards are very extensive, and a careful Hostler is in attendance. Wellington Square, Oct 24, 1867. 20 ly

PALERMO HOUSE, PALERMO, JOHN VANALLEN, PROPRIETOR, Returns his thanks to his numerous customers for their past patronage, and begs to assure them that he will still conduct | HE following remarks on Testimonials his business in first-class style. Best ling and attentive hostlers. Palermo, Oct. 4, 1867.

GEORGE CLARKSON, BEGS TO ANNOUNCE TO HIS

numerous friends that he has com- GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY. menced business in the Commercial Hotel, Commercial Street, Milton, For Disease of the Throat, Lungs, Liver where he will be found ever ready to Digestive Organs, Kidneys, &c., as well as attend to the wants of his customers. Scrofula, the various Skin Diseases, Hu-Milton March 18th, 1868. 41-ly

ROSSIN HOUSE, ACTON.

house for a term of years, which is situated Peter C. V Miller, of Erenstown, C. W. popular in the County of Halton. No pains now well. Scores of such cases might be shall be spared in providing the best brands

Acton, March 1st, 1869.

W. F. MILLS,

(LATE OF CABLISLE.)

Kilbride, February 1st, 1869.

Business Directorn.

DONALD MCNAIR.

COUNTY AUCTIONEER, Nassagaweya P.O., having had seven years experience, he flatters himself he can give the very best satisfaction. All orders promptly attended

Nassagaweya, October 7th, 1868. J. B. Willmott,

ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES, Main street, Milton.

W. H. YOUNG, ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES, Union Arcade, Oakville, Ont.

William A. Agar, per Hanger. Shop on Martin Street, Milton. Orders left at Thompson's Hotel will be attended to.

Robert Swanton Appelbe, BARRISTER, ATTORNEY, AND SOLIcitor in Chancery, Oak ville. Official Assignee for the County of Halton.

James Bastedo, L. D. S. SURGEON DENTIST, WEL-lington Square. He will consecond and last Monday in each month. -Rooms in Canadian Hotel. - All operations Wellington Square, April 14, 1869. 44-ly

CROWN HOTEL,

HORNBY EAST, BY GEORGE GARvin. This is a new house, and is fitted up in as comfortable a manner as any Hotel in the County. Good Stabling. Every atten-

THOMAS CLARK, Georgetown, Ont. DUSSES to and from the Station, regul arly. Every attention paid to the travelling public. Good stabling and at-pied by Dr. Robertson. Consultation Robt. Do mage

PALERMO. Palermo, October 17th, 1866. 20-ly KILBRIDE.

MILTON, ONT lie that he has moved to his new Hotel. on the corner of Main and Brown Streets. where he will be glad to wait upon his old customers. He has spared neither pains nor expense in making his House a firstclass Hotel, and all who favor him with their

JOHN WALLACE. Milton, Feb. 23rd. 1864

W. Barber & Bros., TAPER MANUFACTURERS! Georgetown.

Printing and Wrapping Paper Constantly on hand and made to order. - WOOL CARDING & CLOTH DRESSING

On the shortest notice. Cotton Rags in any quantity will be received at their Faper Mill in return for cash. Highest price in cash paid

Milton, March 30th, 1868.

STOP AND SEE

of most wonderful and extraordinary brands of liquors and cigars, good stab- cures in Canada by the Great Indian Remedy. They are stern, undeniable and 8-ly incontestible facts, sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the Great Medical Compound, yearned after for ages, is now accessible in the mors, and all diseases arising from impurities of the blood, we boldly state that this great remedy has never been equalled. Where was there ever such a cure as that THE SUBSCRIBER BEGS TO INFORM in the person of Wilson Storms, of Brigh-

Call at the Drug-store and get a Circular of unquestionable certificates on the Great 38-ly Shoshonees Remedy and Pills, and satisfy

Price of the Remedy, in large Pints, $1.00. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. Agents for Milton, H. Watson and J. B. Willmott; wholesale by Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle.

MILTON, COUNTY OF HALTON, THURSDAY,

TREMENDOUS RUSH

TO THE

EMPORIUM.

DETERMINED TO SELL GOODS AT

Prices that will Startle the Community!

IMMENSE STOCK OF GOODS

JUST ARRIVED!

WHICH MUST BE

CLEARED OUT IN THE COURSE OF A FEW WEEKS!

IN ORDER TO'MAKE ROOM

IMPORTATIONS

Come one, come all, and secure bargains! Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere. You will find we will give you

Goods Cheaper than you can Buy them in the County.

GOODS

Of Every Description,

Cottons, Tickings, Stripe Shirtings,

PANCY PLANNELS, WINCEYS,

Prints, &c., &c., at a Bargain.

OVER JONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY DIFFERENT STYLES OF

$3,000 Worth of

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Well and Fashionably Made Up, will positively be

SOLD AT A SACRIFICE!

WE HAVE ON HAND THE

Nargest Beleckion of Cloths in the County,

Which will be Made Up in First-Class Style.

We find it impossible to enumerate the different kinds of Goods which we have on hand, we therefore invite the public to

CARLIBURANTEN POR THRUSELVES,

And we will send them away well satisfied with the Bargains we will give them.

Be Sure and Remember the Place.

JAMES McGUFFIN & Company.

MTON, ober 6th, 1869.

17-ly

POETRY. LITTLE TOTTLER.

NOVEMBER 25, 1869.

Only beginning the journey,
Many a mile to go;
Little feet how they patter Wand ring to and fro Trying again so bravely,
Laughing in baby glee,
Hiding its face in mother's lap,
Proud as a baby can be.

Talking the oddest of language Ever before was heard; But mother, you'd hardly think so, Understands every word. Tottering now and falling, Eyes are going to cry; Kisses and plenty of love words;

Willing again to try.

Father of all, oh! guide them,
The pattering little feet,
While they are treading the uphill road, Braving the dust and heat, And then when they grow weary, Keep them in pathways blest, And when their journey is ended, Savior, oh! give them rest.

-The Children's Friend.

My Shocking Misadventure.

the fire with my chin upon my hands, my feet came violently in contact with was bent on mischief. Thinking that and my feet upon the hobs of my grate, the ground every time. I feared to let conciliation would be the best course for till the entrance of the "gyp," who, go, but I could not keep up at soch a me to adopt, I answered him civilly; waiting on me, interrupted my medi- pace, so clinging for just a moment long- told him that I was his passenger, and tations—', Oh, sir, ahem! Beg pardon er, I swung myself beneath the buffer, willing to pay my fare; assured him sir," he began, "you were not at hall and then let go. I was rolled over and that he should not be incommoded by to day, sir, and the Dean sent word to over like a ball. know whether you would be going down, Shouts of disapproval had all the be friendly. "Will we?" he replied. sir; you must call on him before chap. time been in my ears, but now I felt "Oh! indeed; passenger! Jabez's pas-college tutor, and did not miss a chapel sue against you, and you are to be pun. floor of the van he brandished his nor a hall, the whole time, and further, ished for your willful and malicious fists in my face and shouted. "Fifty that I should act as lesson reader. attempt to to and before I could pounds! fifty pounds! or over you go "For," he added, "you must not ex- possibly reply to this vague charge he like a cinder!" pect to pass a vacation in sloth and dispatched three of my captors to the The litle girl now clung to him, and idleness, sir, and the college will require gates to prevent my egress, till I should screaming with terror, begged him to be the utmost regularity on your part." comply with all his demands. To all this I made no objection; to be dialogue in which we mutually en sentenced to eat my dinner regularly ed indignation, each being astonished at lune with me at Melford Station to morrow be available before six.

ing, I must leave by the half past eight joined, and walked away.

required a tutor for his boys for three Passing along the row of laden truck, I this, or else, if possible, to get a clear or four weeks; Dill happening to be reached the last van. This was half fall and take the chance of it. there on a visit for a few days, had re- roofed over. While I was inspecting it He kept pressing me over backwards commended me. Melford Hall, he a shriek from the enjme told that it was with all his force, and it was impossible said was only two miles off, and he starting. Without losing a moment I for me to free myself from his grasp would take me there if I wished. He clambered up. and swinging myself in At last he succeeded in lifting me over; went. Everything proved satisfactory, by a hand rail, proceeded to explore the but as he did so I managed to reach and then, as I was anxious to return by interior. The hinder portion of the down over his back, where I took a firm the two o'clock train, Dill and I, after van was not covered, but the front was, hold of the lower part of his jacket, an early luncheon, set out together for and it was also closed up-all except a and turning it over him pinio ed his the station, declining the offer of a car. doorway, by which it was entered from arms some what, and brought his head riage, that we might enjoy the longer the open part. Taking refuge in this down upon me, as if in a bag. Havi chat. After having proceeded leisurely somewhat close cabin, I found it rather by this partly disabled him and estab for more than a mile, my friend wished dark at first, but on a long broad seat lished a good holdfast for both my me good by, and returned towards Mel- opposite the door lay a heap of coats, hands. I hoped that his weight would ford. Looking at my watch I found it and a sort of horsecloth, which I con- sustain me, and that we should be able wanted but ten minutes to two. So, cluded belonged to my surly friend. - to continue thus, holding by each other quickening my steps, I trudged on Reclining upon these I awaited his ar- till rescued at the first stopping place briskly. A turn in the road brought rival, for the train was rolling rapidly My fear was, as I hung over the side the station in sight, and looking in the along, the engine puffing merrily; and that some object in passing might cross direction from which the train now due now I began to congratulate myself on or strike me off: yet I held on. My might be expected, I saw a distant baving left Melford in time after all. patch of white smoke or steam. Hast- On the whole, my new quarters were ening forward, I strode up the stairs, tolerably comfortable; they were snug two at a time, that led to the station, and warm; while the wind outside was and beheld the train gliding in towards bitterly cold. My eyes becoming ac-the opposite side. Jumping down up customed to the dimness of the place, on the line, I was about to cross, when several things which had not at first a voice warned me not to pass before the been visible began to attract my obser engine; accordingly going round the vation. A couple of jars and a block back of the train, I mounted the other | bottle stood in one corner; on the floor platform, and placing my hand on the near them a railway lamp, several oilcarriage door, was about to open it. the cans, and a small red flag; above them, train by this time moving very slowly. on a shelf, three greasy looking books "Wait, sir!" cried the porter, "don't in parchment covers, a small stone inkyou see the train is in motion?" I bottle, some quill pens, a short clay drew back and the carriages passed on pipe and tobacco box An unpleasant and on; that it appeared as if the odour of oil and stale smoke and (as I speed was increasing, instead of slack | could not help fancying) of spirit perening; so fearing that I should be left | vaded the place. These, with the exbehind, I caught at the door handle ception of the latter, I should have exnearest to me-it was that of the last pected to meet with. What was in the carriage. I was now at the end of the corner by the door it was not easy to platform, and the train was off! Act- determine. Once it seemed as if someing more by impulse than by anything thing moved. After some minutes had else, I jumped down beside the last elapsed I leant forward to solve the myscarriage, and held on, trying to climb tery, and caught hold of what appeared up and open the door-this, owing to to be the folds of an overcoat. As I able to accomplish. The speed was was evident that I had discovered some rapidly becoming greater, and the en- one in hiding. Before my surprise had gine was giving steady pulls onward abuted, a scrambling overhead and a which were distinctly perceptible heavy thump upon the floor of the van short one-was just commencing. The Looking forward I saw a pile of rails outside the door announced that the last of my companions had set off for in my way; giving a leap while they surly man had arrived. In he came, the railway station, on the top of one of were yet at some distance, I was carried just as we two concealed ones had come the many heavily laden omnibuses over them safely, Then I observed to this juncture. # Hallo!" he shoutwhich, fringed with hat-boxes, swayed that the train was rushing in by a wall ed, "what's this? Why, who the from side to side beneath the seemingly unlimited weight of "men" and lug running hard all the time, I succeeded little girl of about seven or eight years gage. As soon as they were gone an in catching the end buffer before it of age ran to him from the dark corner overpowering feeling of duliness came passed me. Grasping it with both and held him by his coat. Looking at over me. The usual bustle and excite- hands, I was now pulled along at the me angrily he asked, "what do you ment of university life had suddenly back of the train. The expression want here? My name is Jebez Bull ceased, and as I returned to my rooms "running" would not convey any idea what's yours? 'Jabe' wants to know and passed through the grim old college of the exercise I had to undergo. what you are here for." gate, I felt like one friendless and for. Stride, stride, stride, stride, stride, my From his aspect and manners I now vain, for a long while, did I plead that me roughly. "Come back, you, sir," tic air to the side of the van. "That's living in the north of Scotland, it was said the man, "No running away, the way," he said; "take it!"

omnibus. New, morning chapel would "Try a luggage!" I repeated to he could not hear me was evident, for be at that very time; it was at seven myself; "try a luggage!" and then the train was tearing along against a during term. "Should I apply for an his meaning flashed across my mind, strong head-wind, and all sound of my No; my college tutor was and I resolved not to wander too far voice was blown far to the rear. But ill; and the Dean not to be faced again from the station. In about half an hour where was the little girl? She had disthat day, so I resolved to risk it; my I observed that a luggage train had appeared—had she fallen over during quarter's supply of cash being at a very just come in; it was drawn up upon a our struggle? No further time was low ebb, Dill's bait was tempting; and siding; the man in charge was greasing given; my antagonist was at me again; I saw I could be back again for hall by one of the wheels of the van, the station there was just time for me, to turn the train which left Melford-road at master had entered his office-I would round and face him. We closed, and the narrowness of the step, I was un did so there was a little scream, and it

steps became 6, 8, 10 feet leaps in a saw that, though anything but incapa-For some time I sat brooding over moment, and I felt my legs fail me as ble, he had been imbibing freely, and me, and we would sit down together and half stunned. Scrambling to my feet senger, are you? Fare! Is that all?" In obedience to the message, I tap. as soon as possible, I commenced to run, "Yes," said I; "what more do you reed at the Dean's door at the time ap- and instantly fell over a sleeper. Upon quire?" "More? You are a direcpointed, and having received permission this I perceived I had been following tor, I expect; a rascally intruding spy, to enter, found that he entertained the in the direction the train had gone, ingreatest possible objection to my re- stead of seeking the station-but my turn this child out from my van! But maining in his residence. He was brain was all in confusion. The hue no - it shan't be done I'm infringing bent, it seemed to me, on clearing out and cry becoming louder, however, re. the by laws, so are you; and you may all the undergraduates, so as to release called me to some sense of my position. as well break your own neck as give me himself from the duty of keeping his Three or four railway men had by this the trouble of doing it. Over with watchful eye upon their doings. In time come up, and one of them collared you?" He pointed with mock majes a great hardship to compel me to re- you've just been and made a haccident The train was now going very fast turn home for only a few weeks. He of yourself, as near as ever you could: down a slight incline, and there was no was hard to convince, and though I won't he give it to you?' With this one within call Pretending, therefore, had never incurred his displeasure, he I was hustled back to the station and not to observe what he had just said. I affected to believe that my unwilling confronted with the angry station-mas- took out my purse with the view of diness to "go down" must proceed from ter, pen and paper in hand. "What's verting his attention. "Look here," the basest of motives. Whether he your name, this moment, sir?" demand said I, "What is the fare for riding in thought I had my eye on the college ed he, in a pompous but peremptory this comfortable van of yours? Shall plate, or what, I knew not. At last he voice. "Why do you ask?" I en I give you five sh—" With one yielded an ungracious permission—sub- quired. "Why? Because, sir, you stroke of his hand he had dashed my ject to the following conditions, that I have infringed on the company's by purse and all it contained far away obtained the recommendations of my laws; I have a summons already to is- across the line and stamping upon the miet; but he thrust her from him with stroke of his arm and sprang every day without fail, and to officiate the other's conduct, we came to terms. hand by the side of the neck. with the as reader, were no punishments to me, He entered my name in the draft of a left he thrust me back against the woodand the thought of quitting my mon summons, and granted me my liberty, work. He was a stalwart fellow, and I astic cell did not occur to me till I re- while I threatened that if he moved was but slight. He had full advantage ceived a letter in the evening. It came the company against me, I would bring over me, and this he knew. I thought from a college friend who had a few an action for damages for loss of time, that I should be suffocated; my temples days before gone down to London &c., &c., through his fault in not stop- throbbed; and I felt my face getting (every place is "down" from the Uni- ing the train for me. So we parted. redder every moment. Neither of us versity.) His style of writing was The Dean and my four o'clock hall spoke for a few seconds. I scanned not elegant and somewhat laconic; it now recurred to my thoughts; it was anxiously every part of the van within ran thus:—" Dear Ken-Coach 2 val- long past two, and on anxiously mak- sight, to see if there were any means of uable pups? If so, 10 min. interview inquiries I found that no train would escape, but saw none, and unless he would let me go so that I might jump As I passed out at the gate for a or clamber out, there was no getting This was unexpected and certainly stroll, one of the men seeing impatience clear of him. With a wrench he threw perplexing. On referring to my Brad- written on my face, said in an under me from him to the opposite side of the shaw, I found that Melford was a road- tone, "If you don't mind infringing van. I looked over, thinking to leap, side station, at which few trains stop the by laws a bit more, try a luggage." but saw the danger. Availing myself ped, and if I was to meet Dil. (or "What's that you say?" I eagerly en- of the moment to draw breath, I leant rather Dillingworth) there in the morn. quired "I ain't said nothing," he re- over the side and then shouted with al my might to the engine-driver. That then I found he was endeavoring to lift two o'clock.

Next morning the stall below the Crossing over to the man, I said— then I found he was endeavoring to lift me over the edge! Vainly I tried to Dean's was untenanted, and he who "can 1 go with you?" He turned beat him off, and though he aimed should have been it's occupant, Ken- round, stared, said nothing, and then blow at me now and then, he was too neth Duff, was on his way to Melford. resumed his work. On my repeating near and not sober enough to strike Stepping out at this latter place, Dill the question he uttered a decided no! with effect. His object was to throw was found waiting my arrival. He He was evidently in a surly mood, so me over; my only chance therefore told me that a neighboring nobleman I left him, resolving to act for myself. consisted in holding on so as to prevent

[CONCLUDED ON FOURTH PAGE.]