A Fair Offer. The Fenian raid in '66 cost us two millions of dollars, and we suppose that the actual and threatened raids since then have cost us two millions more. These four millions would have been sufficient to enlarge the Welland Canal so as to make it navigable by sea-going essels. We have been forced to throw this large sum of money away through the neglect of the American authorities to force their laws against the Fenian freebooters. Under the circumstances the American authorities are liable for the whole amount, and they should pay it promptly. It they will 1 my it, here Americans use our canals, and their en- D largement would benefit them greatly, quite as much as it would benefit us. Now the four millions we have thrown away will do the work nicely; and it the Yankees will square up the acunt, we will agree to spend every dollar of it on the Welland. Here is a way of settling the thing so that all

The best of the joke is, however, now that all is over, the Senate of the "F. informing the victims that they have enperior to O'Neil's in every way. We are glad to say, however, that the press has spoken out on the affair with such unanimity and indignation that a repewill probably be impossible. There ought to be, though we fear there are not, some of the papers specially devoted Thills to Irish interests honest and courageous enough to warn the poor against these schemes. The "salaried officers" of the Brotherhood will probably now have to face the cold world, and either keep Union ARCADE, Oakville, Ont. real accounts, which will have to balance, or handle the melancholy spade and dismal hoe.

The fracas between Lord Milton and Mr. Lowe has occasioned some alk. His Lordship has always taken a decided view against tha so-called rights of the Hudson's Bay Cempany in the fertile portions of Rupert's Land. and the questions he addressed to the Chancellor of the Exchequer were emishould, without explanation, have delegated his answer to Mr. Stansfield; but the row in the end came to nothing. The Government could hardly afford to snub one of their own supporters, who is heir to the third or fourth richest peerage in the United Kingdom. Lord has made North American politics a special study. They are his hobby, and a yery useful one withal.
