The moon was by this time shining so brightly that you might read by it. Miss Clare took the carte and gazed at I it. She turned to me with a hasty! "good night," and, before I could recover from my aotonishment, had disappeared in the direction of the Lodge. I had not even time to say "good-bye," as I had intended. About halt an hour after I arrived at the Swan, a messenger from the Lodge brought the following note:

WIMPLE LODGE, Tuesday Night. "DEAR MR. DALTON-Do not go away until I see you to-morrow. "BELLA CLARE."

What did the river say during the small hours? I know that I could not sleep for it until the cock crowed, and I was late to breakfast. When I came down my landlady, who was indeed lord and lady of the Swan, told me Miss Clare had been waiting for me for half an hour. She was seated in the little parlor, and when I entered she at once pulled from her pocket the picture that had fallen from Hay's fly- DRY

"Ladies are more merciful, Miss Clare. You have given me a lesson in kindness, have you not?" " Frank-Mr. Dalton !" " No-Frank."

"Well, Frank, I am sorry more than I can tell you for my folly. Will you help me to break off from Captain He may have bought the carte in

Nothing what I can say will ever persuade that lady that I did not hook her hat intentionally; and it was only upon condition that I would mention her suspicion, that she has allowed me to write as I have done.

Treatment of Indians.

One of the most surprising things about the Red River embroglio is that the Canadian Indians have been the A full assortment, cheaper than anywhere been restrained from swooping down upon the contumacious opposers of British sovereignty in Manitoba. It is to be observed that these red men are not of a different race from those on our Western border, but to the full as savage-numbering, indeed, as chief among them, the fierce confederacy of the Six Nations, which formerly, under the leadership of the Mohawks, held their headquarters in this State. To this day they still roam wild in the woods. and are as much given to paint and feathers, and scalping knives and tomahawks as ever; but, under the wise Indian policy of the Dominion, they wear their paint and war weapons for show only, living in peace and amity with the white man. Why, then, when the Hnglishman can maintain such friendship with the desperate Mohawk, is it that we of the United States must be perpetually engaged in that sickening barbarism known as war on the Plains? Just opened under the management of MISS MOORE. The Canadian policy leads to no wars, no slaughters, no disturbed borders, no costly and frequent expeditions, but, in addition to perfect peace, procures the constant keeping on foot of a wild but

THE LADIES WILL BE PLEASED TO LEARN THAT WATKINS. at the Right House, has greatly reduced his prices this season. Having trebled his sales during the last two years, on account of the low price he has sold at, he has now determined to sell at a smaller profit than ever. which his enormous sales will enable him to do, particularly as he does not credit, has no Book-keeper to pay, makes no bad debts, and consequently charges no extra profit to cover these expenses and losses. In reducing the prices of his goods, he is determined to adopt a strictly One Price Principle

In his business, and feels confident that, as his stock this spring and summer will be unusually large and well assorted, having been most carefully selected by MR. JOHN H. WATKINS, in the very best and cheapest European and American Markets, and bought for eash down, it cannot be excelled in Canada, He would particularly invite attention to his Millinery and Mantles, among which will be found the novelties of the season, at the very lowest rates. His Dress Goods, which for beauty and cheapness, cannot be excelled in the His Carpets, Damasks and House Furnishing Goods of every description. which will be sold as low as can be bought at wholesale houses by the piece. See some of his prices: - An immense stock of Fast-Colored Prints, at ten cents to a York shilling. A large lot of Ladies' Summer Skirts and Corsets at half a dollar. Piles of all-wool Canadian Tweeds, at 50 cents. Ginghams and various styles of Dress Goods, at a York shilling; Canadian Checked Flannels, a yard wide, at three York shillings; Ladies' Mantles, from six York shillings up to the richest and most costly styles in all materials and colors; Misses' ditto, from 37½ cents up; Ladies' and Misses' Hats, Bonnets and Caps, direct from the London and Luton Manufacturers, at the very cheapest rates.

Good two-ply Carpets at half a dollar; beautiful Tapestry Carpets at 80 cents; Floor Oil Cloths from 621 cents; Damasks and Moreens, very low. A large lot of Lace Curtains and Ladies' Lace Shawls, direct from Nottingham,
