How to KILL A TOWN .- The following, which we copy from an exchange, may perhaps be read with profit by some of our residents :- "If you wish to of a Udescriptions imported directly , rom the kill a town, put up no more buildings than you are obliged to occupy yourself. If you should have an empty building, and any one should wish to rent it, ask about three times its value. Look at a cold shoulder to every business man and mechanic who seeks a home among you. Go abroad for your wares rather than purchase from your own merchants and manufacturers at the prices, and make sure to get up the nimus of sectarian partizan partiality people and against the tise, so that persons at a distance wil know that any business is being done in your place. A prompt and close observance of these rules will ruin any town in two wears."

Drew's "Essay on Souls" was knocked down to a shoemaker, who, to the great amusement of the assembly, asked the auctioneer if he had "any more books on shoemaking to sell."

They have " Maiden Assurance Companies" in Denmark. A father may deposit any sum at the birth of a daughter, and the child received, during her minority, 4 per cent. annually; at 18 she comes into a higher income, which is increased at stated periods shrough life.

Here is a light and airy description from a Southwestern paper of an episode of Southwestern life; "Four Kentuckians in jail for murdering a neigh bor, had a surprise party from hundred or two citizens the other night. They hadn't any last words ready, and they wouldn't have had time to say them if they had. All leave families."

A burly Teuton whose taste for lager could not be disputed; entered a city car one day with a huge meerschaum in his mouth, and, taking the only vacant seat, proceeded to roll forth volumes of smoke. The conductor, seeing this violation of rules, stepped up to him and said: "No smoking allowed." The Dutchman, taking his pipe from his mouth with an air of astonishment thus replied to the polite conductor: "I don't make no noise ven

THE LADIES WILL BE PLEASED TO LEARN THAT WATKINS, at the Right House, has greatly reduced his prices this season.

Having trebled his sales during the last two years, on account of the low price he has sold at, he has now determined to sell at a smaller profit than ever, which his enormous sales will enable him to do, particularly as he does not credit, has no Book-keeper to pay, makes no bad debts, and consequently charges no extra profit to cover these expenses and losses.

In reducing the prices of his goods, he is determined to adopt a strictly One Price Principle In his business, and feels confident that, as his stock this spring and summer will be unusually large and well assorted, having been most carefully selected by MR. JOHN H. WATKINS, in the very best and cheapest European and American Markets, and bought for cash down, it cannot be excelled in Canada. He would particularly invite attention to his Millinery and Mantles, among which will be found the novelties of the season, at the very lowest rates.
