-We direct attention to the advertisement of this company which appears in another column. Though hardly one year in existence, the, Association has already reached a point that seems to render future success certain. The prime necessities to the safety of all new life insurance companies are careto secure the ordinary average of mortality. All this the Confederation seems to have to have attained. has already issued policies of insurance on 1,054 lives, covering an aggregate risk of $1,539,600. It has received $45.405 of premiums and the first year has been passed without a single loss. These facts give proof of prudence and energy in the managemen and good promise of a successful career for the company, As a Canadian institution, the Confederation Association is entitled to special favor; and as its rates of premium are below the average of foreign companies, and its money is invested on mor gage of real estate at good rates, its business is likely to increase rapidity.
